Great Fight For Tunisia Draws Near

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The crowding of the Africa Corps' rear guard by the British Eighth Army and the devastation of Sfax by the heaviest American bomber formation ever assembled in North Africa indicated today that the zero hour for a grand Allier assault in Tunisia was approaching.

Axis radios were openly alarmed about the impending action and the Nazi-controlled Paris radio said Allied forces were "advancing rapidly" between Sfax and Gafs, approximately 100 miles inland from the vital Axis supply port on Tunisia's east coast.

Radio Paris also confirmed that American troops had occupied Maknassy, 34 miles from the Tripolitanian border in Tunisia, and said that they were testing defences the Axis was preparing between swamps Chott Djerid and Gabes.

SFAX SOFTENED UP

Four waves of America's heaviest bombers softened up Sfax yesterday. For a half hour they pounded the Axis base, starting big fires in the harbor and railroad yards at the port in what appeared to be a preliminary to the big drive to push the Axis forces into the sea.

An Allied North African headquarters communique said there was no change in the Tunisian land situation, but the British Middle East command reported artillery exchanges between the Eighth Army and the Africa Corps rear guard near Zuara, 32 miles from the Tunisian border.

Although Allied operations in southern Tunisia had narrowed the coastal corridor through which Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa Corps remnants must pass to join the Tunisian forces of Col.-Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim's troops, military sources here said it was probable that they would be able to complete the manoeuvre.

GERMAN STRENGTH

The Germans were believed to be able to muster three or perhaps four armored divisions for the battle of Tunisia.

Despite bad weather, Allied planes of the Middle Eastern command swept low over southern Italy and Sicily Wednesday night and yesterday to blast railway communications and "other targets." They were maintaining a steady offensive against the railroads over which supplies and reinforcements were rushed for shipment to the Axis' narrowing African bridgehead.

Meeting First Step in French Rapprochement

ALGIERS, Jan. 29—Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, high commissioner of French North Africa, today said his meeting at Casablanca with Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Fighting French, was only the first step toward a rapprochement between them, and that other steps would follow. He declared in a prepared statement delivered at a press conference that the junction of his Sahara Camel Corps with the Fighting French troops under Brig. Gen. Jacques LeClere at Ghadmes, was only the first fruit of his agreement with de Gaulle to establish an active liaison.

Reds Wipe Out Strong Pocket at Voronezh

3,000 Nazis Killed, 6,000 Captured in Trap

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—(BUP)—A special Soviet communique says that Russian troops in another successful offensive west of Voronezh, have captured more than 200 inhabited localities.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—Russian troops have liquidated one of the strongest pockets of enemy resistance on the Voronezh front, killing or capturing 9,000 more Axis effectives and raising the at least 81,000 the number of prisoners taken on that sector, it was disclosed today.

Three German generals were among a group of 6,000 enemy troops who surrendered, the Soviet noon communique disclosed. Three thousand others were killed by picked tank forces, Red Guards and cavalry commanded by Col.-Gen. Philip I. Golikov.

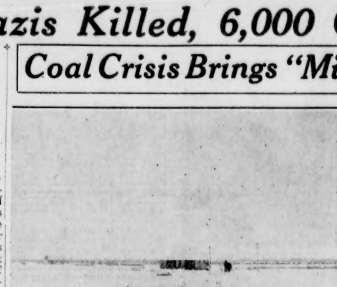

The capture of Kastornoye, vital junction of the Moscow-Tagamrog and Voronezh-Kursk railroads, by Golikov's northernmost forces placed the Red army in excellent position to strike at the flanks of the German armies retreating from the East.

HEAVILY FORTIFIED

The newspaper Pravda reported that the Germans had heavily fortified Kastornoye to protect the flank of their forces to the south. The Russians smashed through despite concentrations of Axis tanks and artillery and widespread mine fields. The Germans also had

Coal Crisis Brings "Mining" in Calder Yards

Nineteen years ago Canadian National Railways officials started piling up a coal "nest egg" in the Calder yards at Edmonton. For the whole summer of 1924, long trains loaded with steam coal from the Cadomin and Mountain Park mines, rolled into Calder, and the coal was piled in a huge black mountain. Seven years ago more coal was piled. In all, 90,000 tons of good steam coal was in the Calder stockpile. Railway officials had originally feared a coal shortage from strikes in mines. These fears did not materialize, but last week, with steam coal mines operating at a low rate of production due to the general shortage of miners, the railway faced a real crisis. Then the big black mountain at Calder proved its value as a reserve. The above picture shows the coal being loaded into gondolas by a massive steam power shovel. The coal is being hauled up to the coal docks as fast as it can be "mined" and is used immediately by locomotives working in and out of Edmonton. Railmen say the big heap, piled there in 1924, is a real life saver. The power shovel moves two tons at each operation. In a 10-hour day it can move 1,500 tons of coal.

Marketings Limited To Fourteen Bushels Per Authorized Acre

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Marketings of wheat in western Canada during the crop year 1943-44, starting next Aug. 1, will be restricted to 14 bushels an authorized acre, Trade Minister MacKinnon announced in the House of Commons today.

The 1943-44 wheat board payment for wheat sold under the 14-bushel quota will be the same as in 1942-43—90 cents a bushel basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William.

Under the new program, any wheat a farmer has on hand, whether it is produced in 1943 or in any previous year, may be delivered within the 14-bushel quota.

NOT PAYING FARM STORAGE

Minimum prices for oats, barley and flaxseed, as in the case of wheat, will be continued at the 1942-43 level.

Decision has been made not to pay farm storage on wheat held on farms, Mr. MacKinnon said.

"If farm storage had been paid this crop year, serious difficulty in accepting deliveries of 280,000,000 bushels (the amount to be accepted by the Canadian Wheat Board) was anticipated," Mr. MacKinnon said.

The 14-bushel quota plan indicates a substantial reduction in the total quantity of wheat to be accepted by the wheat board in the new crop year, against the 280,000,000 bushels it may take in 1942-43.

REDUCTION IS SOUGHT

Prairie wheat acreage in 1942 was estimated at 20,653,000 acres by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. A reduction of 3,000,000 acres in 1943 is desired under the program announced by Mr. MacKinnon, which would leave 17,653,000 acres.

If the acreage objective were met exactly and the 14-bushel delivery quota were permitted on each acre, the total wheat sold to the board would be less than 250,000,000 bushels.

Farmers who produce more than 14 bushels of wheat to the seeded acre will not be able to sell the excess to the wheat board at the guaranteed minimum price of 90 cents a bushel.

Mr. MacKinnon also outlined to the house the 1943 grain production objectives, on behalf of Agriculture Minister Gardiner. He said that if livestock production objectives were to be reached in 1943 and 1944 there must be an increased acreage of coarse grains in 1942.

U.S. President Pays Visit to Brazil, Liberia

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON Jan. 29.—President Roosevelt, on his way home from Casablanca, stopped off to confer with President Getulio Vargas of Brazil and to visit Liberia, and it was believed today, he may have inspected Dakar, strategic French port on the "hump" of the African continent.

Some of Mr. Roosevelt's movements since he left Casablanca, scene of his 10-day conference with Prime Minister Winston Churchill, were revealed last night by the White House and by an official Brazilian announcement in Rio de Janerio.

The President's conference with Vargas occurred at Natal, Brazil, Wednesday night and Thursday morning—and news of it surprised officials here.

DAKAR BELIEVED STOP

His visit to Liberia was shortly after the Casablanca conference had ended. American troops have been stationed in Liberia, the Negro republic founded by ex-American slaves in West Africa.

Basis for the belief that Mr. Roosevelt stopped at Dakar was a phrase in the White House announcement of the President's Liberian visit that revealed he made one stop between Morocco and Liberia. The announcement said:

"Prime Minister Churchill and

Canadian Army Powerful Force

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Maj. W. E. Harris, Liberal member of parliament for Grey-Bruce, said today in the house of commons that the Canadian army will go into battle stronger than any other Canadian army and with more tanks and mechanized equipment than any army of like size in the world.

Moving the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, Maj. Harris—home from army service overseas—said the two-corps Canadian Army overseas will be led by young officers "and at its head will be one of the greatest soldiers of the Empire."

Maj. Harris said he found among Canadians overseas a feeling that a great honor has been reserved for the Canadian army in holding it to act as a spearhead of invasion to liberate the peoples of Europe.

President Roosevelt, upon conclusion of the Casablanca conference, had motored to Marrakech, some 150 miles to the south. They spent the night in that very old Berber and Arab town nestled at the foot of the Atlas mountains. The two leaders parted the following day, President Roosevelt then flew to Liberia with but one intervening stop."

Railway's Huge Stockpile Proves 'Money From Home' In Alberta Coal Crisis

By JACK DeLONG

We hear a lot these days about stockpiles, the word meaning just about exactly what it suggests, a big pile of valuable material, that comes in handy when a shortage threatens.

Well there's one big stockpile in Edmonton, piled up 19 years ago, that is coming in mighty handy these days. We have reference to the gigantic pile, or piles to be correct, of coal on the north side of the Canadian National Railways in Calder.

In these two big stockpiles are 90,000 tons of coal. The biggest heap, containing 65,000 tons of the finest steam coal ever mined at Cadomin and Mountain Park, was heaped up in the summer of 1924. In those days there was considerable unrest among miners in Canada's steam coal fields.

DON'T TAKE CHANCES

A huge transportation system like the Canadian National Railways just doesn't take chances. In 1926 a second, but smaller stockpile, containing 25,000 tons, was piled up near the original one.

Fortunately the railway never had to dig into this big bituminous nest egg because of strikes. As time went on Edmonton residents

TRENTON, N.S., Jan. 29.—(CP)—The 3,500 workers in Trenton's steel industry, holdouts from the strike that for nearly two weeks paralyzed Canada's steel production, voted at a mass meeting here this morning to return to work under the same 30-day arrangement that sent workers at Sydney, N.S., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., back to their jobs last Tuesday.

Japs Pessimistic On Future Outlook

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(CP)—The Moscow radio broadcast last night a pessimistic commentary of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri Hochi on the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting at Casablanca.

As recorded here by the Soviet Monitor, the newspaper said:

"When we recall how carefully the Anglo-American invasion of North Africa was prepared and the scale on which it was made, there is no ground for their optimistic conclusions concerning the future outlook."

Concerning Russia, the Moscow radio quoted the paper:

"In her large-scale summer of fensive, Germany scored comparatively little success and subsequently she was even compelled to retreat which testifies to the enormous strength of the U.S.S.R."

R.A.F. Continues to Pound Akyab Island

NEW DELHI, Jan. 29.—(CP)—R.A.F. fliers are continuing their pounding of Akyab Island, British headquarters said today, with two night raids and a series of day raids noted in a communique on action in western Burma.

On land action the war bulletin reported only that the usual patrols were conducted along the Arakan coast, which is north of Akyab.

U.S. Superior to Axis in Air Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The United States army's air power is "brilliantly successful" operations around the world, has established a 4-to-1 combat superiority over the aerial strength of the Axis, war secretary Henry Stimson said yesterday.

Stimson presented at his press conference a box score on the work of the army air forces in the last 11 months of 1942—a total of 1,349 enemy aircraft shot down or probably destroyed in aerial combat, against losses of only 309 American planes.

The score of enemy losses, said the secretary, was confined to the bag of aerial combat—no enemy planes brought down by anti-aircraft fire were included. However, the army losses of aircraft in that report included those destroyed by enemy anti-aircraft guns.

The evidence was given at the trial on four men charged with conspiring to defraud the federal government and three companies of $200,000 in connection with war sub-contracts for the munitions department.

Nazis Bolstering Norway Defences

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 29.—Germany has resumed strengthening its fortifications in southernmost Norway opposite Sweden, dispatches from Norway said today.

Reinforcements have arrived, meeting halls and chapels have been requisitioned and bunker barricades and land traps have been constructed at such towns as Moss, Askim, Skjeberg, Fredrickstad and Halden across the Oslo fjord from Sweden.

There was no confirmation here of rumors broadcast by Russian and African stations yesterday that Russian Arctic troops had captured Petsamo, on the Finnish Arctic coast, on the way to Norway.

It is known that Russian ski patrols operate far behind the Finnish-German lines south of Petsamo, but it was believed that Petsamo itself was still well outside the fighting zone.

Nazi Casualties Are Greater Than Whole Of Napoleon's Army

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(CP)—German casualties since the Russian winter offensive began in November are larger than the whole of Napoleon's grand army which invaded Russia in 1812, the Moscow radio said today in a broadcast recorded here by the Soviet Monitor.

Napoleon's invasion force numbered 600,000 men, including French, Germans and Italians. They crossed the Niemen river on June 24, but only 100,000 reached Wilno Dec. 6.

Nazi "Nuisance" Raid on Algiers

Gen. Montgomery Favored As Commander in Africa

By C. R. CUNNINGHAM

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Jan. 29.—One of the decisions made at the Casablanca conference, it was reported today, was to place a single commander in charge of combined African operations from the Atlantic to Suez immediately after the Axis is driven from Tunisia.

The name most often mentioned for the post was that of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, conqueror of Marshal Erwin Rommel and tactical genius of the Eighth Army's brilliant 1,400-mile march to Tripoli.

The choice of Montgomery was said to be likely because his Eighth Army is considered by military men to be the finest striking force in the world. In addition, he has had three years of experience fighting Germans and Italians.

STEPPING STONE TO EUROPE

It was taken on granted here that North Africa would be a stepping stone for the invasion of Europe and that one of the biggest air assaults of history would be launched against southern Europe as a softening up operation for the land action.

The personal opinion of this correspondent is that British Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder will be entrusted with the task of directing the bombing.

The fact that Gen. George C. Marshall, U.S. chief of staff, and Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, British commander for the Middle East, received up-to-the minute reports on the Tunisian military situation was taken as an indication here that extensive operations might not be far away.

The question was raised today concerning who would command the French forces after Brig. Gen. LeClere's troops join Gen. Henri Honore Giraud's forces. LeClere's army is composed of Fighting French.

While LeClere commands the Fighting French army that drove up from the Chad region, Giraud is commander-in-chief of all French forces in French Africa. When LeClere reaches Tunisia, the issue of who is in supreme command will come to a head.

Premier Hopes Bracken Soon To Enter House

OTTAWA— Jan. —29—(CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, welcomed the new temporary leader of the official opposition, Gordon Graydon, member for Peel, but said he hoped the recently-chosen permanent leader of the party, John Bracken, would lose no time in seeking a seat in the House.

Mr. Graydon was chosen by a Conservative caucus to relieve Hon. R. B. Hanson, whose health prompted him to seek relief from the house leadership he has carried out since 1940.

Mr. King paid tribute to Mr. Hanson and expressed regret that he found it necessary to give up the house leadership.

Mr. King then touched upon the party leadership, which was changed at the Winnipeg convention last December when the former premier of Manitoba, Mr. Bracken was selected to succeed Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen as leader, and the Conservative party name was changed to Progressive Conservative.

BRACKEN IN GALLERY

Mr. Bracken was sitting in the gallery just behind the government benches as the Prime Minister spoke.

Mr. King recalled that "a year ago" the opposition party chose a new leader, "who, however, never appeared in this house."

This meant that Mr. Hanson had carried on in the house as leader, but was not leader outside.

"I hope that practice is not going to grow into a custom," the Prime Minister said. He suggested that efficient practice of the British parliamentary system requires the party leader to lead his group in the house.

"I do hope, in the interests of parliamentary procedure generally, that the chosen leader of the party will find a seat in this house without delay."

Registration Of Single Men Required Feb. 1

In order to put themselves in good standing with the regulations, single men, required by a recent proclamation to register under the military call-up, must comply with the order not later than Feb. 1, William Carnill, manager of the local Employment and Selective Service office stated Friday. Registration may take place at the Employment and Selective Service offices or at mobilization board offices at the post office.

Only single men who have not received notices to report for medical examination under the military call-up, and who were born in 1903 and the following years up to and including 1923, must report, Mr. Carnill said, pointing out that men who did receive their notices, and who as a result were medically examined by personal physicians, are not now required to report.

TO CLARIFY

To clear up further any confusion about the exact definition of the men who must report by Feb. 1, Mr. Carnill stated: "The term single man includes any man who was unmarried at July 15, 1940, whether he has since been married or not; any man who was a widower, or was legally separated or divorced at July 15, 1940, and who had no dependent children at that time, or who, if he had a dependent child at July 15, 1940, no longer has a dependent child or children. It further includes all men who have become widowers, or were legally separated or divorced, since July 15, 1940, and who now have no child or children dependent upon them. Any of these men who did not previously receive notice to report for medical examination, must register by February 1."

Many men at present in the armed forces did not receive notices to report, obviously these are exempt from the order.

Since the issuance of the proclamation which requires this registration by single men, 30 men have reported at the Local Employment office, it was stated, and 312 men have also reported through the local post office.

Aussie Militia Units to Fight Further Afield

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Prime Minister John Curtin today introduced in the House of Representatives a bill to extend the geographical limits within which Australia's conscripted militia may serve.

Mr. Curtin's amendment proposes that conscripted troops be permitted to serve anywhere south of the equator, west of the 110th meridian east longitude and east of the 159th meridian east longitude, but only in such particular areas of this zone as may be specified by proclamation.

The proposed liberalization of service laws, therefore, would open the whole southwest Pacific to Australia's draft armies at the premier's discretion. Its most likely immediate effect would be to permit them to fight in the Solomon Islands, Timor, Dutch New Guinea and the southern tier of the Netherlands East Indies.

DRAWS CRITICISM

Criticism of the bill was led by former premier Robert Menzies, who described the Curtin proposal as "astonishingly inflexible, parochial and isolationist." He said it "makes sorry reading in the light of constant public appeals for help from other countries."

Percy Spender, former army minister, declared the bill "gave no hope to the world, especially to America from whom we sought aid, that although her troops are serving in distant fields, her mainland and close to ours, we do not propose to fight outside an exceedingly limited area."

Legislation Is Asked on Health Plan

CALGARY, Jan. 29. — (CP) — Immediate federal legislation for a national health insurance plan to be administered by an independent commission and financed from the consolidated revenue fund of the federal government was requested by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at its seventh annual meeting here yesterday.

Approximately 150 delegates, representing all branches of agriculture throughout Canada, are attending the meeting. The sessions will continue today and Saturday.

Consideration of the annual report given by the president, H. H. Hannam, Toronto, and the report of the secretary, W. E. Haskins, Ottawa, occupied the entire time of yesterday's morning session.

Included in Mr. Haskins report is the suggestion that an international agricultural association, embracing United States, Great Britain, Canada and other British dominions, as well as other countries concerned, be created as soon as possible.

Indications were, he said, that important changes in the relationship between Canada and United States, now and in the post-war period, would take place.

"Death Weapon" Shown Suspect

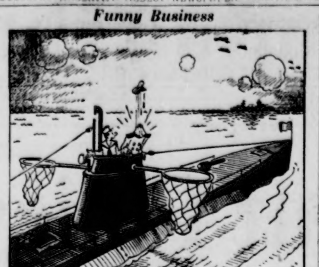

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—(AP)— Robert Folkes, 20-year-old negro dining car cook, held here in the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Martha James aboard a train in Oregon last Saturday, was confronted with three knives yesterday and, while Folkes looked carefully at each of them, later admitted, Dept. Capt. Verne Rasmussen said, that one of them "might be" the murder weapon.

Rasmussen said the knives were taken from the dining car on the train on which the pretty wife of Naval Ensign Richard F. Haines was fatally stabbed in her berth while en route to California.

The detective has announced that Folkes has confessed the killing after making a number of conflicting statements regarding his activities on the night of the slaying, and that "there is now no doubt whatever in our minds that Folkes is the slayer."

Rasmussen said it had been planned to take Folkes to a railroad sleeping car yesterday to determine whether he could re-enact the crime but that the trip was cancelled after Folkes' attorney advised him to make no further statements.

erected thick ice walls to protect their positions, Pravda said.

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet rewarded 48 Russian generals with the Orders of Kutuzov and Suvorov today for their successful offensive operations which are driving the Germans back along the 2,000-mile front.

Front dispatches said the German pocket liquidation on the Voronezh front was one of the many threatened with disaster midway between Moscow and Rostov.

One Russian unit, the noon communique said, had liberated 33 inhabited localities, villages and districts, within two days in an advance westward toward Kurks, on the Kharkov-Moscow railroad, from Voronezh.

This unit took more than 300 prisoners and captured a large quantity of war spoils.

The grim work of cleaning out the first gigantic Russian man trap, at Stalingrad, continued relentlessly and it was believed that there could hardly be more than 3,000 men remaining of the 220,000 encircled and smashed there.

The Moscow radio, heard in London, said German Lt.-Gen. Repke had surrendered at Stalingrad with all that remained of the entire German 297th division.

Ilya Ehrenburg, famous Russian war correspondent, wrote in a special dispatch to the London News Chronicle that Gen Friedrich von Paulus, German commander in chief at Stalingrad, was said by German prisoners to have fled, turning his command over to one Lt. Gen. Hilner, who in turn also deserted his men and fled by airplane.)

MOP UP GERMANS

"Our troops on the Don front continued to annihilate separated detachments of the enemy, who singly and in small groups continue to fight their arms and refuse to surrender," the noon communique said of the Stalingrad situation.

"More 1X units captured 500 prisoners. Another unit wiped out 150 German officers and men. Booty is steadily increasing."

Yesterday up to 1,000 Germans had been killed and 300 more surrendered, according to official count, out of the ragged, starving, hopeless thousands who remained.

A third potential man trap, which threatened the entire 185,000 Nazis troops below Rostov, was developing.

Yesterday's gains brought the Russians within seven miles of Kropotkin, southernmost of three railroad junctions through which the Axis troops might hope to escape, and the city was almost encircled.

18 MILES FROM TIKHORETSK

A second powerful Russian army was within 18 miles of Tikhoretsk, 35 miles north-northwest of Kropotkin, the second junction point for escape.

This Russian army was less than 50 miles east of Kushchevka, 90 miles north of Tokhoretsk and 45 miles south of Rostov, third and last escape junction.

The Moscow radio last night put the total of German killed and wounded in the last two months at more than 700,000—"more than the whole of Napoleon's army of invaders." At Borodino, the battle which permitted Napoleon to take Moscow, Napoleon had 130,000 men.

The noon communique reported new gains on both the southern and north Caucasus fronts, where the railroad junctions below Rostov are threatened.

Tipple of Mine Is Destroyed by Fire

Fire originating in the hoist room destroyed the tipple of the Long Mine, 15 miles north of the city, Thursday night. Damage is estimated at $4,000.

The fire broke out at 6:30 p.m. in the hoist room at the base of the tipple and in a few moments the whole tipple was enveloped with flames.

A call for help from the city fire department was turned in at 7:15. Fire Chief James Macgregor went out to find that fire was beyond control and kept his men on duty to prevent the flames from spreading beyond the tipple.

Joe Goebbels, Goering Speak For Fuehrer

By ROBERT DOWSON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(BUP)— A radio announced today that Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, would address a public meeting tomorrow, 10th anniversary of the Nazi accession to power, and that Field Marshal Hermann Goering, Nazi No. 2 and air force chief, would address the German armed forces by radio.

It was announced that Goebbels at the end of his own speech at 4 p.m. (11 a.m. EWT) would read a proclamation by Hitler, who in the past made the anniversary the occasion for one of the most fulsome of his public speeches.

Thus the inference was left open that unless by surprise—as had happened once before during the war—Adolf Hitler, confronted by an inexorable advance of Russia's Red Army, the imminent liquidation of an army of 220,000 men sacrificed to his glory at Stalingrad, would not speak.

But always before Hitler had had occasion to bluster and boast—in 1940, the first war year, that he was going to add Britain to his empire and with them old Chamberlain," as he called the late British Prime Minister—and Daladier of France; in 1941 that the United States had better be good or he would sink all its ships; that Germany would defeat Britain within the year; in 1942 that, though he did violate neither that he war would end that year, Germany would win.

In his 1942 speech he said also that though Germany was on the retreat at that moment in Russia "not only will the winter relent but has passed the Russians shall soon see what it means to taste the German steel."

6-Month Sentence On 'Mischief' Count

Frank Kwichak, of this city, received a suspended sentence of six months in city police court Friday after pleading guilty earlier in the week to a charge of causing public mischief.

The charge arose out of Kwichak's complaint to police on an alleged complaint, which resulted in several days' research on the part of the city detective department.

When the police failed to trace the complaint down satisfactorily, Kwichak admitted that the original complaint was false.

He was placed under suspended sentence and ordered to report regularly to Major R. Shaw of the Salvation Army.

Sentence was passed by Magistrate Harold Hawe, K.C., who is presiding in the absence of Magistrate A. L. Millar, K.C.

Cherniavskys Play Here on Saturday

A group of 3,000 men, drawn from No. 3 Manning Depot, R.C.A.F., the Army and the Navy, will hear a concert by Jan and Mischel Cherniavsky in the arena on Saturday at 2.30 p.m., it was announced by H. Brock Smith, chairman of the War Services Entertainment committee.

By special permission of Group Captain W. G. Webber, a section of the arena has been set aside for the civilian public so that those who were disappointed by the cancellation of the Friday night Cherniavsky concert in the Empire theatre will be able to hear the famed Russian musicians.

Civilians will be asked to donate to a silver collection, the proceeds of which will go to aid the Russian fund.

The Cherniavsky brothers played to 40 officers in the officers' mess at the Manning Depot Thursday night.

Major Change in Policy of Board

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Announcement from Charles Vining, chairman of the wartime information board, of the appointment of John Grierson as general manager of the board, represents a major change of public information policy that is expected to be clarified in government statements in due course.

The resignation of Mr. Vining himself on the grounds of ill health is understood to be involved. Instead of the chairman, the active direction of information work will be under the general manager. This will make the information board a close parallel of the National Film Board, whose Mr. Grierson is already serving as general manager.

Resignation of Campbell Smart, Montreal, and Frank Ryan, Winnipeg, as chief executives of the external branch of the wartime information board have been accepted, it is reported. It was not indicated immediately that they would be replaced, and a substantial curtailment of the branch is expected. It has offices in Washington and New York, and a London office was proposed.

D. B. Rogers, Regina, chief of the domestic branch of the board, remained in that capacity. Any changes affecting this branch, will develop, was not indicated.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Maj. William Harris Fox, 64, created a member of the British Empire for an invention for conserving army grease during the First Great War, died at his home here yesterday. He was a past president of the Canadian Army Medical Corps Association.

Canada Will Have Fighter Command In British Isles

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Jan. 29. — Throne speech reference to the Air Force saying that increased responsibilities will be assumed for maintenance of Canadian airmen and Canadian squadrons serving abroad, was taken as an indication that Canada's proposed independent fighter command in Britain would shortly be undertaken. As from January 1 Canada has operated its own bomber group in Britain, fully independent except in the higher strategy of air warfare. The government's determination to proceed with a fighter formation of similar importance was believed reflected in the throne speech reference.

Alberta Butter Shows Increase In Production

Creamery butter production in Alberta for the month of December was up 15.4 per cent over December 1941, Alberta department of agriculture officials stated Friday. Factory cheese, for the same month, was down 37.8 per cent from the previous December's production.

Total butter production in the province in December, 1941, was 5,608,545 pounds. In December, 1942, the figure was increased to 1,914,-933 pounds. While in 1941, the central section of Alberta led in butter production, in 1942 the northern section was the largest producer.

The total production of creamery butter for the Dominion, in December, 1941, was 12,103,802 pounds. The following December's production was a greater output of 20.1 per cent, with a total of 14,535,430 pounds.

While January to December production of butter in Alberta increased 4.7, per cent to a total of 58,986,480 pounds, the all-Canada total was down by 8 per cent.

Just the reverse of this situation occurred in December 1942 factory cheese yields where Dominion figures were up 29.2 per cent to a total of 2,718,604 pounds, while the province's total was down 37.8 per cent to 151,950 pounds. However, total factory cheese production in Alberta was up 24.4 per cent to 6,508,545 pounds for the year 1942.

Creamery butter stocks on hand in Alberta on Jan. 1, 1943, were down 8 per cent over Jan. 1, 1942, with a total this year of 2,454,467 pounds available. Over the whole of Canada, a drop of 48.1 per cent for the same dates was recorded. The Jan. 1, 1943 figure was 22,806,-980 pounds on hand.

This last figure, a drop of nearly 50 per cent, would have been of major importance in the decision to ration butter throughout the country.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching, burning or bleeding passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Merrick Drug Stores or any other druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally in a small dose to take effect, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Canadian Aid To Allies Will Exceed Billion

OTTAWA, Jan. 29. — (CP) — Canada's gift in supplies to the cause of the United Nations this year will be financed and allocated by a new Canadian war supplies allocation board and will exceed the $1,000,000,000 vote made available last year, official sources said last night.

Formation of the board was forecast in yesterday's speech from the throne, opening the 1943 session of parliament.

At the last session, Canada made an outright gift of $1,000,000,000 to the United Kingdom to pay for war materials, munitions and foodstuffs produced in Canada. This gift has been used up, although the present fiscal year does not end until March 31.

TREASURY-FINANCED

Under the new arrangement the board will be financed out of the federal treasury, an official said, and while the details have yet to be worked out it will see to it that Canada's peak production in munitions, foodstuffs and other supplies will go to the places where it will do the most good.

It will take more than $1,000,000,000 this year to look after this job," one official stated. He said the outlay will be a gift, not a charge against the Allies.

Premier Takes Exception Dominion Government Stand on Development

Premier William Aberhart, Friday, condemned the stand of the Dominion Government on the development of natural resources in northern Alberta, and in the North West Territories. The premier's statement arose from Ottawa reports, published throughout the country, concerning an "international planning project, for peacetime development of northern British Columbia, the Yukon Territory, and Alaska."

Mr. Aberhart pointed out that fabulous amounts of oil and minerals in the north of the province of Alberta, and in the North West Territories, could be made available to the hard-pressed Allied governments, for war purposes. But, he pointed out, the Dominion government intends neither to foster immediate development of these resources, or to give the area to Alberta, so the province could develop the needed minerals and oil.

The premier stated he had no opposition to development of resources in Northern British Columbia, or the Yukon, provided the area is worthy of development.

But, he added, the resource-proven areas of northern Alberta and the North West Territories are apparently receiving no attention from the Dominion government, and these areas could be producing materials needed to help win the war.

Premier Aberhart's statement, in full, follows:

I was surprised to read the article from Ottawa appearing in the Edmonton Journal of January 25, to the effect that an "international planning project, aimed at extending the wartime collaboration between Canada and the United States in peacetime development of a coast area of Northern British Columbia, the Yukon Territory and Alaska, was announced Sunday by a Canada-United States Economic Committee." No mention of Alberta is made in this announcement.

MORE EVIDENCE

In commenting on this article, I feel obliged to say first of all that if there is any truth in the news item, it is just another evidence that the Ottawa government intends to continue its policy of discrimination against Alberta in all matters of vital interest to our people. This is very unfortunate and most unwarranted.

It has long since appeared very evident that the government in Ottawa intends to preserve its control over the rich northern mineral areas in the interest of powerful financial corporations. Its actions would indicate very definitely that it does not intend to permit any development whatsoever, of these mineral resources, because such developments mind tend to break the monopoly now enjoyed by these financial monopolists. This discrimination is proving a serious handicap on the natural progress that the west might enjoy.

WEALTH THERE

The enormous wealth contained in the oil bearing sands of Fort McMurray, and the thousands of acres of fertile agricultural lands in the northern sections of this province, are as well known as the vast reserves of oil and rich mineral deposits in the North West Territories. The development of these oil and mineral resources could be used to fill a desperate shortage now facing the hard pressed Allied governments in the prosecution of the war. Why are they not being developed? The answer is plain! As long as these mineral resources remain in control of the federal government at Ottawa as they are now, it would seem they will not be developed very rapidly nor efficiently.

We are not opposed to the development of the resources of northern British Columbia, and the Yukon, if there is anything, of commercial extent to develop there. What we do insist upon is the development of the fabulous mineral resources which are known to exist in northern Alberta and the North West Territories.

GREAT RESOURCES

These enormous resources, if made available, would have a far-reaching effect upon the economy of Western Canada, especially in relation to the present all-out war effort, and to the post-war reconstruction. We have persistently pressed for the extension of the Alberta boundaries to take in these northern areas, in the same way as the provinces of Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba have taken in theirs. Up to the present, however, our submissions have not received the consideration that they deserve, and therein lies the rub.

I am convinced that the only reason why Ottawa persists in ignoring our petition for an extension of the boundaries of Alberta, notwithstanding the fact that the British North America Act gives Alberta a right to such enlargement, lies in its subservience to the domination of these powerful interests.

I am confident that our people recognize that the provincial government has a definite right in this matter, and should be given the opportunity to bring it to a final decision, which would be beneficial to all, rather than to a few.

FORMER COMMISSION

Several years ago a joint commission was set up by the Governments of Canada and of the United States, to report on the possibility of building a highway through British Columbia to connect United States with Alaska. Although representations were made to Ottawa by the Alberta government that the feasible route for this highway was through Alberta, our representations were completely ignored.

The work of this commission was side-tracked and hamstrung by political interference to such an extent that it proved itself futile.

This is borne out by a despatch from New York, which was carried in the Edmonton Journal, December 17th, 1941. The despatch reads as follows: "The Alaska Highway Commission's work was complicated by political considerations, and took no account of war conditions. Its primary objective was to build a road linking the important coast towns of Alaska with the American West Coast area. It developed into a Seattle-to-Juneau log-rolling junket." Thus the first attempt was a dismal failure.

WORTHLESS WORK

When it became necessary to undertake the construction of this highway for military purposes, it was found that the several years work performed by the Alaska Highway Commission was absolutely worthless and engineers who were charged with the duties of rushing this project, could see that after only superficial observations the proper route for this highway was through Northern Alberta with general headquarters located in Edmonton.

Judging from the article recently published, it would appear that a similar committee is to be appointed whose political purposes would appear to be the revival of another red herring.

We want the people to know that if their interests are going to be maintained, then there is one thing that should be done, and that is to follow the custom that has been established with the other provinces, and immediately extend the Northern boundary of Alberta to take in these rich northern areas. If this is done, these resources will be developed for the benefit of all the people, rather than for the profit of a favored few.

War News Summary

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29

Russia: In the Russian campaign, the Red armies were exploiting the same divide-and-annihilate tactics used by Hitler in his first devastating sweep into Russia 19 months ago. The Russians were steadily closing a pincers on the German-held Maikop oil fields, attacking from the northeast and the southwest, and also hammering a wedge between Nazi forces in the Maikop sector and others immediately below Rostov. The wedge was pointed at newly-recaptured Kalnibolotskaya, only 18 miles northeast of the key rail hub at Tikhoretsk. Other Soviet troops striking up the Baku-Rostov railway were reported only eight miles southeast Kropotkin, just below Tikhoretsk, after a total advance of 215 miles from Mozdok in the lower Caucasus. In the Voronezh sector, the plight of the Nazi invasion armies appeared to be growing blacker by the hour, with thousands of Germans, including former generals, surrendering or falling captive as the Russians stormed toward Kursk.

• • •

North Africa: Montgomery's British 8th Army pressed its pursuit of Axis rearguards in the northwest corner of Libya.

Vanguards have reached the vicinity of Zuara, 65 miles west of fallen Tripoli, after an advance of 20-odd miles. Zuara lies 35 miles from the Libyan-Tunisian frontier.

On the western flank Rommel's escape corridor in Tunisia was reported imperilled by an Allied thrust toward the Gulf of Gabes, with one report placing American troops at Maknassy, 33 miles from the Gulf.

• • •

Pacific Area: Allied airmen have carried out new blistering attacks against Japanese bases in the Southwest Pacific sector The aerial assaults included forays against shipping, airdromes and grounded planes.

In the northeaster sector attacks were made on New Britain and the northern coast of New Guinea Island.

It is in the Rabaul area of new Britain Island that the Japs are believed concentrating a large fleet—possibly to undertake another big offensive drive in the Australian area.

The map above shows the principal centres of action in the Tunisian battle areas. The location of recent Axis attempts to penetrate the French line and occupy ridges west of Ousseltia is shown as 1. Maknassy, where an advanced American patrol drove forward to break up a German attacking force, is shown at 2. Somewhere west of this point, the bulk of the American 5th Army, under Gen. Clark, is massing for a drive to the coast around Gabes. The Mareth Line and the Axis landing field at Medenine, where Rommel is expected to fight a stiff delaying action are located at 3, while the advance guard of the British 8th Army on the outskirts of Zuara is shown at 4.

Government's Wheat Policy Is Announced

WILL AMEND ACT

To encourage reduction of wheat acreage, he said, the minister of agriculture will submit amendments to the wheat acreage reduction act, 1942, to provide payment of $2 an acre on each acre by which land seeded to wheat in 1943 is less than land seeded to wheat in 1940, based on the same acreage.

"If there is new breaking involved, 80 per cent of it will be counted as wheat and 20 per cent as coarse grains. No payment will be made in respect of abandoned land," he said.

The minister said there is no assurance that flaxseed from additional acreage can be disposed of in 1943. The government was not asking farmers to increase flax acreage over 1942, and if there were any change in requirements for this crop, farmers would be notified later.

AIDS CROP PLANNING

The statement on grain policy was being made early in the year to assist producers in planning their 1943 crops. The program had been decided upon after "very careful consideration," discussion with the wheat board, after receiving recommendations of the wheat board advisory committee, after a Dominion - Provincial agriculture conference between government officials and the federation of agriculture, and after consultations between the United States and Canadian agricultural authorities.

The 1942-43 program involved important adjustments, but retained the same general objectives as the 1942-43 program. The marketing policy was definitely related to the general farm-production program announced by the agriculture department.

MARKETING PROGRAM

Mr. MacKinnon outlined the marketing program under six headings:

"1—The fixed initial price of wheat under the Canadian wheat board act will remain at 90 cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat basis in store Fort William-Port Arthur or Vancouver.

"2—Marketings of wheat in western Canada in 1943-44 will be restricted to 14 bushels an authorized acre. The method of marketings to 14 bushels an authorized acre, instead of using a total marketable acreage, greatly simplify administration and each producer will know exactly how much wheat he can market.

"3—The most important change in policy is in connection with wheat delivery quotas, 1943-44. Under the present regulations only wheat grown in 1942 may be delivered against the 1942-43 total of 280,000,000 bushels. Under the new program any wheat which the farmer has on hand, produced in 1943 or in any previous year, will be deliverable within the quotas fixed for the crop year 1943-44.

REDUCE WHEAT GROWING

"The government feels that this feature of its 1943-44 policy will result in a further reduction in wheat acreage and will enable producers to devote more of their land to the production of other crops which are required. Most producers in the west will have wheat on their farms at the end of the crop year, and consequently will be able to further reduce their wheat acreage in 1943 and still fill their 1943-44 delivery quotas.

"The general farm production program contemplates a reduction of at least 3,000,000 acres in the area sown to wheat in 1943 as compared with 1942.

"4—Minimum prices for oats and barley in 1943-44 will be continued at 45 cents a bushel for No. 2 C.W. oats, basis in store Fort William-Port Arthur, and 60 cents a bushel for Nos. 1 and 2 C.W. barley, basis in store Fort William-Port Arthur, with lower grades in their proper relationship.

ACCEPT OLD CROP

"Old crop as well as 1943 production of oats and barley will be delivered during the coming crop year.

"5—The fixed price for flaxseed in 1943-44 will be continued at $2.25 a bushel, basis in store Fort William-Port Arthur.

"6—In connection with its policies in respect to delivery quotas, the use of available storage space and shipping facilities, the Canadian Wheat Board will give first consideration to the movement of those grains or grades of grain which are most in demand in 1943-44."

Announcing it had been decided not to make payments on farm storage of wheat "on the strong advice of the Canadian Wheat Board," Mr. MacKinnon said that in two past crop seasons such payments had been made.

At the beginning of the crop year 1942-43 there was about 170,000,000 bushels of empty storage space, less working space, in country elevators for the receipt of new crop, and apart from a few troublesome districts, was adequate initially to advance delivery quotas rapidly.

DELIVERIES TO DATE

More than one-third of western delivery points now had their full wheat delivery quotas of 14 bushels per authorized acre, and only 154 of 2,149 points remained on a eight-bushel basis.

In addition to wheat deliveries of 152,000,000 bushels, western farmers had been able to sell 10,000,000 bushels of flax and 100,000,000 bushels of other grains.

"These alternative and additional revenues and the advance in the price of wheat have helped the farmers' position so that the conditions of 1940-41 were not applicable," said Mr. Mackinnon.

"If farm storage had been paid this crop year, serious difficulty in accepting deliveries of 280,000,000 bushels was anticipated. In all probability, the payments would have had to be accompanied by a required delivery date on certain percentages of the farmers' quota and this feature, in turn, would have been a considerable offset to the payments."

URGED TO DELIVER

"It has already been necessary for the Canadian Wheat Board to urge producers to deliver grain within their existing delivery quotas wherever there is available space at their local delivery points."

Prompt filling of available storage space had important advantages. It brought forward more of the kinds of grain and grades which can be quickly disposed of in domestic and export markets, and thereby serves to increase the total sales of grain by leaving them on hand for shipment forward when required.

It also helped the wheat board in making it possible for producers to deliver 280,000,000 bushels of wheat during the 1942-43 season. This could not be accomplished if producers withheld a substantial volume for delivery in June and July, the last months of the crop year, Mr. MacKinnon said.

Christ Church Congregation Hears Reports

F. J. Kavanagh was appointed rector's warden at the annual meeting of Christ Church held this week. He succeeds Alfred Chard, who has held the appointment for the last four years.

Gerald O'Connor was elected people's warden and succeeds R. H. Caulley who held the position for 26 years. During the evening the presentation of a purse was made to Mr. Caulley on behalf of the congregation by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor.

Chairman of the meeting was the rector, the Rev. E. S. Ottley. Both stolen off the counter of the Canada Grocery several days ago, police reported.

Mr. Justice O'Connor and Mr. Ottley extended warm thanks to Mr. Caulley for his untiring work in the betterment of the church.

The financial report showed a deficit of $1,190, due it was reported, to extraordinary repairs to the church and rectory.

CONTRIBUTIONS UP

General givings of the people have increased over $1,000, it was shown, while the missionary appropriation, $1,402 has been paid in full. The church, it was said, was able to face the present year with confidence and optimism.

The Women's Auxiliary and the Women's Guild have voluntarily dissolved, and in their places has been formed a new Women's Auxiliary which has assumed the obligations of both former organizations which covered the missionary work of the church and the work in the parish.

Membership of the church now includes more than 400 families which embraces over 600 confirmed members of the church. The Sunday school has an enrollment of 175 boys and girls.

Plan Tryouts For Victory Players

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock tryouts will be conducted by the Edmonton Victory Players in Memorial Hall for the casting of several skits and short plays.

As their programs will also include dancing, instrumental numbers, stunts, readings, and singing, an invitation is extended to anyone wishing to offer his or her services to be on hand.

Schedules will be drawn up for several programs to be staged for the entertainment of men and women in the services at the various centres in Edmonton as well as at Camrose, Wainwright, Vermilion and Wetaskiwin.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

BECAUSE we are in the fourth year of this war, some of the brilliant patchwork of peacetime colours may be missing from our lives, but war, for all its drabness, only tones down some of the colours used. Naturally enough, the service colours dominate the scene—Navy Blue, Airforce Blue, Army Khaki.

The dye chemist's first duty is to ensure that these service colours will stand up under all kinds of exposure and rough treatment. Gone, now, is the dependence of Canada (before the last war) on dyestuffs of German origin. Today, these are fully replaced by dyes from Great Britain and the United States.

For many years C-I-L's Organic Chemicals Division has served industries in Canada with their colouring needs—dyestuffs, pigments, etc.—for textiles, leather, paper, pottery, plastics and other materials. C-I-L's service involves constant search to provide dyes that keep pace with changing processes of manufacture and the development of new materials and admixtures of old. In addition to furnishing the serviceable dyestuffs required for hard-wearing uniforms, C-I-L has assured a plentiful supply of colour-fast dependable dyestuffs to meet every civilian need.

Canada's New Deal

The arresting passage in the Speech from the Throne at Ottawa yesterday was the announcement that a system of social security is to be instituted in Canada without delay. This announcement would of itself make the Speech distinctive, as the creation of the system must make the session memorable in the all-time annals of the Dominion.

What is proposed and promised is that the resources of the country shall be used at all times to safeguard the individual citizen against want and fear, as these are now being used to safeguard him against human enemies. The insurance is to be universal. It will be the business of parliament to make it broad enough to cover all contingencies which cause avoidable distress.

The inspirational effect of this challenging message will be immense and timely. Our fighting men are thus given fresh, concrete evidence that they risk their lives in defence of a country that is and will be worth fighting for. We on the home front now know that the nation is not going to drift into another period of economic doldrums with no proper provision that its members shall be able to secure the common necessities of life.

Every person who bears the name of Canadian has today a new stake in his country; and a new incentive and obligation to give it the best that is in him, whether in war or peace.

School Cadets

The public school board of Edmonton is resolved to co-operate fully with the military district in an effort to re-establish army cadet corps in city high schools.

It is a very great pity that the cadet movement, away back in the sickly sentimental '20's, was the target, along with the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides, for deluded optimists who teased themselves with the notion that the way to abolish war was to abolish uniforms and marching in step.

As one remembers those days, there was a sharply impatient reaction against any organization that savored of uniformity or discipline. These things were called "militaristic", and parents fondly hoped that by keeping their boys and girls away from such pernicious things, they would keep them out of the realities of war.

It was not, of course, the reaction against cadets and kindred movements that produced the war. But it was the same spirit which inveighed against cadets that made the war possible.

If we had not been immersed in the fallacy that, by avoiding the trappings of force, we could avoid the consequences of force, we would not have been blind to the dark cloud that was rolling up against us in Germany.

And if we had not resolutely banished all semblance of discipline from our lives, we would have been in better condition to meet the demands of national security in the early days of the war.

School cadets provide a physical and mental discipline that youngsters need. The revival of the movement displays a virile and a wholesome tendency in the public way of thought.

Ten Years After

Ten years ago tomorrow, on January 30th, 1933, Adolf Hitler became Chancellor of Germany. The anniversary will be observed in an atmosphere far different from that of even a year ago, and such as neither the Fuehrer nor his followers expected to ever experience. This is plain from the frantic efforts which are being made by the Berlin radio to whip up the national morale, and the blunt declaration of Nazi newspapers that to lose the war would be to lose "the future" of world-supremacy, and the tributes which subject peoples were expected to keep flowing into the Reich. Things must be looking gloomy to require this change from boasting confidence to spectre-raising.

All mediums of publicity in Germany are under official control. No person there can listen to a foreign broadcast or read a foreign publication without risk of being fined, imprisoned or even executed. That the German people know the full extent of the disaster that has overtaken the Axis forces in Russia is impossible. The facts there, as the facts in North Africa, have been suppressed or distorted to suit the need of softening the impact. But, by one means or another, enough has evidently become known to induce widespread depression; else the official radio and the newspapers would not be resorting to threats in an effort to brace-up the populace.

But it would be a dangerous mistake for people in the Allied countries to suppose Germany is about ready to throw in the sponge. The worst that can be suspected by Germans generally is that they may have lost the prize. That their country is in danger of invasion, and themselves in danger of reaping what their Fuehrer has sown, is probably to them unbelievable. That they will fight desperately to ward off that fate cannot be doubted. The more desperately because of the wholesale crimes committed in their name and on their responsibility.

Why Not Edmonton, Too?

It is announced in Toronto that the Jack Benny radio program will originate in that city February 14. The Benny troupe will also give performances at Camp Borden on February 15th and at the Manning Depot in Toronto February 16. These performances are for members of the armed forces only.

Would it be pertinent to enquire if anything is being done to bring popular radio entertainers, like Jack Benny, to this Edmonton area as well? Benny, with other top-notch radio comedians, is continuously giving performances to the armed forces of the United States, under the auspices, mostly, of the USO. These eastern shows represent a tendency to expand their range by taking in the more important Canadian centres.

Since the Edmonton district has the largest proportion of American troops of any centre in Canada, it is logical to suppose that this city should be among those listed for visits from the string of radio entertainers. This is merely to enquire if anything is being done about it.

What is going on at Marseilles should help de Gaulle and Giraud to an agreement that it does not matter who leads the Fighting French so long as they fight as hard as they can.

The conference at Casablanca is said to have occurred just when Hitler was ready to propose peace on the basis that he withdraw from western Europe but keep Poland, the Ukraine and the Balkans. The advantages he would gain by such a deal are obvious enough to have prompted the report. If he had such a plan in mind, the conference vetoed it beforehand. That the other Allies would be contemptible enough to abandon Russia, Poland and the Balkan states may have been conceivable to the Nazi mind; but it is not going to happen.

Fourth Year of the Last War

Conditions Were Much Less Promising Than They Are Today

BY GRANT DEXTER

Parliament met on March 18, 1918, in the fourth year of the first Great War.

Parliament has met again on Jan. 27, 1943, in the fourth year of the second great war.

Everyone knows well enough how we stand today. How many can re-live, as if the future were inscrutable, the days of 1918?

Sir Robert Borden's first words to Parliament set the scene. He spoke of the "peculiar gravity" of the moment. Russia had collapsed in December. By the treaty of Brest-Litovsk on March 3 — the first peace treaty since the beginning of the war—Germany got all she wanted. Poland passed to the conqueror; the Ukraine became a puppet state. The development of the resources in these vast and fertile areas was proceeding swiftly. The German eastern armies had been shuttled across to the western front to finish the war. In three days' time a fresh army of 1,600,000 men was to be flung against the western front, and all but achieved a clean break through. Would the line hold? The United States had entered the war on April 6, 1917, but her vast power had not yet become effective.

Sir Robert interpreted events with wisdom. His tribute to Russia — the stricken giant who would some day rise again in the cause of humanity — was prophetic of today. Germany's strategy, he said, was to crush the Allies and win the war before the power of the United States could be mobilized.

Would the line hold? The battle order of Sir Douglas Haig, read to Parliament on April 12, made a profound impression: "Every position must be held to the last man; there must be no retirement."

The government faced a strong and implacable opposition; there was no truce on the home front. The Liberals, under Laurier, were outraged by the defeat of the previous December. The injustices of the Wartime Election Act rankled. From men like Lucien Cannon the cabinet got no respite. Mr. Cannon's speech, on April 5, on the Nationalist - Conservative ramp which beat Laurier in 1911, is perhaps the most complete and fully documented account of this incident on record.

On the home front the situation could hardly have been worse. The Canadian corps had suffered 150,188 casualties, including 41,000 dead. Passchendaele's losses of 24,530 men were only four months in the past. Sir Arthur Currie's statement that he was the happiest mortal alive because he was the leader of the grandest fighting army on earth, but sad, too, since the corps was going to die in the line of duty—reflects the color of those days.

Inflation rapidly was getting out of hand and no checks or remedies were in sight. Food costs were up from 50 to 100 per cent; wages were up 17 per cent. The Liberal member from Hull never wearied of collecting data on this point and assailing the government. His speeches run through Hansard like the buzz of an angry wasp. Delegations representing consumers, labor, retailers, etc., came to Ottawa in an endless procession, protesting price increases and profiteering. But in the view of the government there was nothing that Ottawa could do. On April 4, W. F. O'Connor, the cost of living commissioner, resigned and wrote a nasty letter to Mr. Crothers, the minister of labor.

Labor's revolt against these conditions is recorded in the strikes and lockouts which in 1917 cost the nation's war effort 1,123,515 days' work (the comparable loss in 1941 was 433,914 days' work). There was a decline in this loss in 1918, although the total was still 50 per cent higher than in 1942. Then followed 1919, the all-time peak of strikes in this country.

Three problems overshadowed all others:

The government must find fighting men to maintain the Canadian corps in action. Food for the Allies must be produced. The U-boat menace must be met.

The country was in a ferment over conscription. On March 28 riots broke out in Quebec city and a stormy debate followed. Laurier insisted that French-Canadians would obey the law; said of the men who had provoked the riots that they bore in Quebec the reputation of Barrabas in Jerusalem. On that point, none challenged him.

The government did not flinch. The pledges given to farmers in the 1917 election were revoked. Exemptions from military service were repealed on younger single men; the farmers' sons were taken.

The food situation, in Laurier's word, was "appalling." The Allies required a minimum of 450 million bushels of wheat before the 1918 harvest. There were only 150 million bushels in North America and the subs would take a toll. Thereafter, the new war year must be faced. The cry for greater production echoes through Hansard. In March, every clergyman in the nation, at Ottawa's request, preached two sermons on the food crisis.

Ships were being sunk faster than they were being built. The British government launched a ship construction programme in Canada—the only war industry mentioned in parliament by the government.

Hon. A. K. Maclean, another minister of finance in the absence, through illness, of Sir Thomas White, brought down the budget. The 5½ per cent, tax free, Victory loan had gone well. The provinces had been excluded from the money market by order-in-council, but the Dominion would "do them a good turn" by taking care of their needs by loans at 6½ per cent.

The budget called for $980 millions (the comparable figure this year will be close to $5 billion). There would be $270 millions of revenue (today's scale exceeds $2 billion). Britain would advance $300 millions to pay the cost of the Canadian army overseas. The Canadian government would finance British purchases in Canada. The two items would about balance.

In this war, Canada by the end of this year will have paid her own way at home and overseas and, in addition, will have aided Britain, by buying in debt, by loans and by outright gift, to a sum nearly equal to the famous British war debt to the United States at the close of the last war—$3,600 millions. This fiscal year, ending March 31, our gift, alone, will exceed $1,300 millions.

Mr. Maclean pointed out that there must be more borrowing and that taxes must also be increased. The business profits tax was raised to 25 per cent about a 10 per cent net return on capital. Corporation taxes on the 1942 scale were undreamed of. And the income tax must go up. Here is the comparison:

	1917	1918	1942 Tax plus compuls. savings
$ 3,000	nil	$ 20	$ 884
$ 6,000	$120	$140	$3,015
$10,000	$360	$392	$4,762

The manufacture of liquor was prohibited on March 11, 1918. Many reforms of lasting importance were carried through. Sir Robert introduced and put through the bill giving the franchise to women. The Civil Service Act was extended to government employees outside of Ottawa. There were outcries about the size of the Ottawa pay roll—12,000 civil servants. Today there are more than 31,000.

Daylight saving was carried after a long and acrimonious debate, with farmers and railway men as chief critics.

W. F. Nickle, Conservative member for Kingston, on April 3 moved the historic resolution titles. His was a truly great speech. He began with the dawn of history in the British Isles and pursued his subject relentlessly down the centuries. Time and again he offered to sit down, but always there were cries of "Go on." After Mr. Nickle, it was a free-for-all — a rare outburst of democratic feeling and a great day for Robbie Burns and a' that.

Evidence of the sheer tension of the tragic opening months of 1918 is the order-in-council providing that everybody between the ages of 16 and 65 must be usefully employed. This order is remembered today chiefly because of the whimsical references to it by Sir Robert in his Memoirs.

Fears Communism as Menace

Says U.S. Bolsheviks Are Out to Undermine the Country

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK.—There are some genuine Americans who do not realize that Communism actually is an anti-American force, as hostile to this government as Nazism or Fascism and ask for proof. How do they know that the Communist who nowadays so plausibly shouts his hatred of the war enemies of the United States is also, himself, an enemy? It seems unthinkable, especially in view of the fact that Communists and fellow-travellers have been able to worm their way into many government bureaus, including lately the office of war information.

W. Pegler

The most effective testimony comes from backslid Communists such as Benjamin Gitlow, who formerly was so nigh in the anti-American conspiracy that in 1928 he ran for president of the United States on the party ticket. Gitlow, born of poor Russian parents in Elizabeth port, N.J., blamed America for his early poverty and, unlike most young Americans in similar circumstances, became an agitator and an anti-American, instead of working out his own prosperity. In his boyhood he associated not with Americans but with refugees from Russia who used the United States only as a safe place of abode in which to hate czarism and long for the revolution. Immigrants all, the elders, too, disliked the United States as they found it and wanted to make it over to their pattern.

Gitlow later fell out with his comrades in one of those numerous wrangles that are always splitting the Communists into factions but not before he had become one of the leading conspirators, and, in 1940, he squealed on his former comrades in a book called "I Confess" from which the following testimony is taken.

Are the Communists anti-American then, you ask? Will you take the word of Gitlow as to that?

"In addition to being a branch of the Communist International," he says, "the Communist party acted as an agent of the Soviet government. He (the member) is compensated for his opposition to the United States government by being impressed with his importance to the government of the Soviet Union."

Note that Gitlow admits that the Communists opposes the United Sates government.

"The American Communist party has always argued that it had no connection with the Soviet government, but the American Cummunist party is in the same relation to the Soviet government as the paid agents of Nazi Germany are in relation to the Third Reich," he says.

Gitlow explains how it is that Communists can cause so much trouble in proportion to their numbers. A party man, a member of a union, buys his Communist paper on the way to work and may arrive early to spread leaflets without being noticed.

"At noon," says Gitlow, "he will be engaged in some noon activity of the party of his communist faction. After work, instead of going home, he will go to party headquarters to attend committee meetings. After 8 o'clock he may have to attend a union meeting or a meeting of his party branch. After the meeting he probably will go back to headquarters to get instructions for the next day's activities."

What gives them the energy, the zeal for all this? Hatred of the United States keeps him going while American workers sleep.

And would Communism be easily and peacefully accomplished here? Or would it require force and violence, as the law says?

"We can achieve it only through a violent revolution in which millions or our people would perish," Gitlow wrote after he had backslid. "In which the most intelligent thinking and the most socially minded among us would be exterminated. In the course of the civil war, our economic structure would be devasted, our industries wrecked, our fields laid waste.

"But what would be our gains? Few are they who harbor any illusions of the sort of 'democracy' that prevails in Russia. It is virtually indistinguishable from the 'democracy' that is practised in Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy.

"Communism is universal conscription of labor. Communism is forced labor. Free labor cannot exist under Communism any more than it can exist under Fascism. Neither regime recognizes the rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

This comes not from any Fascist agency but from a man who ran for vice-president of the U.S.A. on the Communist party ticket.

The Crack of Dawn

FROM THE HAMILTON SPECTATOR

If you are still lucky enough to possess a rooster, then hang on to him and encourage chanticleer to herald the dawn. The disturbing fact is that alarm clocks are becoming scarce and may soon be as rare as a heaping sugar bowl. The rooster that crows may yet be something more than a neighborhood nuisance.

Not only are no more civilian alarm clocks being made by most manufacturers, but the supply of them has been largely exhausted in wholesale and retail circles. Considerable brass and copper went into the production of alarm clocks, and these are now essential war materials. Germany and Japan used to supply the world market with many such clocks, but the last thing the Axis desires to do right now is furnish the democracies with any device that contributes to their alertness and gets the workers to their jobs on time. One company is turning out a plastic alarm clock which requires only a little steel for its inner mechanism, but this product goes only to the fighting services.

Some neighbors radios can be depended upon to wake up the soundest sleepers at a regular hour every morning; but once it becomes known that this is viewed as a service of convenience it will no doubt be discontinued promptly. A vain and lusty rooster therefore appears to be the last hope when your alarm clock finally gives up the ghost and there are no more spare parts available to make it tick.

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON—I am back in Washington and today am flying down to christen the new "Yorktown." I christened the first one and she acquitted herself well and am proud that they have asked me to christen the second one. As she goes down the ways, I shall pray that she will see the end of the war and will be used in the future for peaceful patrol work. Whatever happens to her, I feel sure that ship and men will live up to the traditions of the navy, which are becoming more glorious day by day.

The workmen who have built these ships in record time to replace those which the enemy has taken from us deserve our gratitude. Without their hard work, we could not have the faith we have in the staunchness of our ships, nor the sense of security that all human power can do has been done to make every ship seaworthy.

Our shipbuilders must be skilled men, for I think that I told you that in Liverpool, England, an old hand at inspecting ships was sure that no ship could be built as rapidly as Mr. Kaiser's, and still be any good. To convince himself, he went on board to look for all the things he felt would be wrong and could not find a single thing to criticize.

At an evening meeting in Montreal on Tuesday night, the band played the various national anthems in stirring fashion. I realized what these songs do to lift the spirits of a people. In the mail a few days ago, I received a letter from an American citizen, who says we should play the Marseillaise more often over the radio. French people may not be allowed to sing it themselves in occupied France, but they may be glad to hear it when they risk their lives to listen to foreign news on secret radios.

The Boys Clubs of America have adopted a pre-service training plan to give boys fourteen years of age and over, basic training which helps them when they enter the armed forces. Every boy will receive a medical examination and efforts will be made to remedy the defects discovered. When a boy is physically fit, he will be given army approved exercises under trained supervision.

These are designed to increase his strength, endurance and muscular co-ordination. All boys will learn to swim and instruction will be offered them in many subjects which may later be used either in peacetime occupations or in war, should they be called upon to serve.

We hope that most of this training will be useful for the peace which we pray we may establish permanently. It seems to me good training for any boy, and I am glad that such a great organization as the Boys Clubs of America is undertaking this program.

Mills Purchase Winnipeg Wheat

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29—(CP)—Mills purchased approximately 200,000 bushels of May wheat on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today leaving the price unchanged at 92½ cents a bushel.

No export business was reported in Canadian wheat or flour.

Some interest in the lower grades was in evidence in the cash wheat market where small lots of No. 5 sold for rail shipment to Eastern Canada. Approximately 300,000 bushels of cash oats and an equal amount of cash barley sold for shipment to the United States.

In the coarse grain pit oats prices stayed at ceiling levels with mills and shippers taking around 800,000 bushels. Southern interests purchased approximately 400,000 bushels of barley futures.

Grain inspections at Winnipeg yesterday totalled 101 cars compared with 681 cars last year.

Country marketings yesterday amounted to 486,000 bushels compared with 382,000 bushels a year ago.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 29—(CP)—Operators seemed disinclined to extend committments apart from giving a little selective support but the stock market closed today generally firm. Industrials were higher selectively. Home rails were firm, with Kaffirs generally moving higher under Cape Town support. Diamond shares closed selectively higher. Oils, rubbers and teas were quiet.

British funds maintained earlier gains.

Chicago's Grain Prices Are Firm

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Make Use of Small Boy Power During Wartime

Small Boy Is Public Enemy No. 1 Unless He Has Something to Keep Him Occupied; Groups Should Be Formed to Help Work Off Steam

Everybody who has ever been one, or had one, or known one is aware that the small boy is Public Enemy Number One against whom his elders are powerless to protect themselves. He is a human dynamo that practically never stops. His ability to get into mischief and do things against the general welfare is sheer inspiration. He is never happy unless emitting strange and raucous cries. He roams the earth in search of what he can destroy, and his chief joy consists in breaking windows, trampling flower beds, and pulling up the shrubs you have spent years in tending, as a mother does a sick baby.

Especially does the small boy regard a vacant house as a gift of God for his diversion, and he proceeds to demolish it with a speed that puts the most expert housewreckers to shame. So most of us, when forced to leave our homes for a few months, have done so with heavy hearts and dire apprehensions of what the little vandals would do to them, and whether there would be enough left of them to be worth salvaging when we got back.

Of course, we have all known that there is nothing wrong or degenerate about these youngsters. Heavens, no! Hadn't we done the same things when we were boys, and don't our own Toms and Dicks and Harrys belong to the gang? It is only that they are overflowing with energy that they do not know how to employ, and have an atavistic urge to make a noise and smash things.

So it will come as glad tidings of great joy to unnumbered parents and householders and insurance companies to learn that some genius has found a way to utilize the small boy power and make it help turn the wheels of the war machine, thus converting a national headache into an asset.

This has been done by organizing them into an association whose members pledge themselves to guard and care for the possessions of all the men and women who leave the community to fight or do war work for the duration of the war.

Among their self-imposed tasks they weed and care for fruit trees, lawns and shubbery, repair fences, guard against window breakage or other vandalism, and in general keep the places in charge for immediate reoccupancy when their owners return. And all this service is given free as the boys' contribution to their country in its hour of need.

Now, isn't that a grand idea, not only for the preservation of property, but for the development of morale in the boys themselves? For all that the small boy needs is to have something definite and interesting to do that he can do in a crowd, and he can be just as happy as a builder-upper as he is as a tearer-downer.

That these boys will do a good job, no one can question who has watched their work in any of the places in which their help has been officially asked and recognized. Didn't they gather up so much waste paper that they snowed under the authorities and had to be asked to desist? And didn't they make such an intensive search for scrap iron that their mothers had to lock up their pots and pans and sleep with the keys under their pillows in order to keep enough cooking utensils to get a meal with?

GRIT ENOUGH

And I, myself, personally observed two little tikes, not over ten years old, who wrestled with a 200 pound iron boiler until they got it on their little wagon, with no other help except a lift from a good-natured passer-by. True, it smashed the wagon before they had gone a block, but the point is it showed the courage and the grit and determination that could almost work a miracle when turned in the right channel.

Of course, the Boy Scouts is founded on this principle of giving restless boys a chance to work off their steam in doing worthwhile things, and probably no other organization has ever done as much real practical good and turned as many youngsters into good citizens. Instead of letting them drift into hoodlumism, as it has.

But we need more and more of these beneficent, character-building groups. It will fill a crying need right now when our house shortage is so acute, and it will ease the mind of many a man fighting overseas to know that the little home that he worked so hard to build; that represents so many sacrifices he and his wife made, and that is so dear to him, is not going to wrack and ruin, but is being watched over and guarded by devoted and patriotic little boys who are tending his grass and his pet roses as tenderly as he did.

And it will give the boys a new sense of responsibility and fire their patriotism to know that they are being of real service in war time, just as their fathers and brothers are, and that when the soldiers come marching victoriously home they will come to a better country.

Minute Make-Ups

Earrings have hit a new high in glamor! Choose big blue stones or flowers. Match them with your blue eyeshadow. Tiny shells in exquisite colors make fascinating earrings. Tiny velvet bows make very amusing earrings. And remember to touch the ear lobes with a bit of rouge to make them pink-tipped and shell-like!

What To Do

If your bedroom curtains look bedraggled, take them down and wash them, and then to really spruce them up, tint them a matching or contrasting shade to your bedroom furnishings.

Just a little efforts like this on your part will do wonders toward brightening up your home.

If you prefer white curtains, bleach them and add a bit of starch to the final rinse water. This will make the curtains look crisp and they will stay clean longer.

Add colored ribbon tiebacks to your ruffled curtains for a change —or if you have straight hanging window curtains, make a valance of a color to bring brightness into the room.

Father: "No, what he did has no connection with his allowance. . . . How many war stamps can you buy this week, Son?"

Father: "You've been a bad boy this week so I'm going to give you only half of your allowance."

Son: "Then I can't buy my war savings stamp."

Council Favors New Resolution

At the evening session of the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women, Edmonton branch, held in the clubroom of the Y.W.C.A. on Thursday the resolution approving the principle of regular physical examination at least once yearly for all women, to detect early signs of cancerous growth, was almost unanimously carried. Presented to the Council under the sponsorship of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses, Edmonton District No. 7 for consideration, the endorsed resolution will now be forwarded to the National Council of Women, Ottawa, for Dominion-wide action.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Dr. Donalda Dickie, member of the staff of the Edmonton Normal school, addressed the Council on the topic "Education and the Modern World." She was introduced by Mrs. Hector Kennedy retiring president.

Comparing the function of education today with the function of education immediately prior to the first Great War, Dr. Dickie stated that formerly education was a "thrill" enjoyed only by people of wealth and nobility for the chief purpose of refinement and filling in leisure hours. It did not prepare people for life, or for earning their own living, in objective.

Today, in this mechanized modern age society demands the educationists to teach the children to prepare for life with the tools of knowledge useful in earning their own living on a basis that is equal for all classes of society. Children must be trained in social behavior patterns that will fit into the present day age of social democracy, where every person has an equal chance to make the best of himself, to the best of his ability.

In summing up, Dr. Dickie said the result will be the "sacrifice of the individual for the good of the whole."

Glamor Goes To the Head

By BETTY CLARKE

No need to let last year's evening dress dim this year's glamor. Party coiffures of 1943 are really something. Enough to turn any man's head in your direction.

It doesn't matter much what you entwine in your hair as long as it's decorative. A feather or two, a string of pearls will do, a bunch of fruit (artificial recommended), a sprig of mistletoe, ermine tails, vari-colored bows, sequin butterflies or flowers—those are a few suggestions. Just a case of letting your imagination work.

Perhaps you have a false hair piece that you haven't bothered with because of lack of time for ordinary wear. Formal parties are special occasions and since every girl spends more than the usual time on "fixin' up for 'em," it's a good opportunity for you to get your money's worth out of your switch.

You can design a really original coiffure with a little extra fixing time. Wear a braided coronet, entwined with ribbon or make a topknot, coil it with your false piece, sprinkle it with beads, and bring your own hair up in side pompadours.

Closer Co-operation Is Planned For Women's Services

By MARGARET ECKER

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Consideration is being given by national selective service officials to a plan of closer co-operation with the women's division of the armed services, it was learned Monday.

The proposal now under discussion—It is believed likely to be adopted shortly—provides for a channelling into the services of such men who, in a recent registration declared themselves ready to take work but who have not yet been placed.

No compulsion would be used, but the plan interlocks with selective service officials, the opportunities existing in the service would be drawn to the attention of such women, it is understood.

The expanding program of the women's division of the R.C.A.F., the Canadian Women's Army Corps and the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service calls for the recruiting of several hundred women each month. These women are replacing men in many trades.

Detailed Routine Ordered in First Salvage Pick-Up

Mrs. Arnold Taylor, director of the Citizens' Volunteer Centre is asking the co-operation of all householders in Westmount, in the salvage drive this Saturday morning, Jan. 30, from nine to twelve.

Mrs. Taylor also stresses the need for women volunteers to drive trucks during these community drives. They may phone 28818 and offer their services.

Details of the organization for Westmount's salvage collection are as follows: Mrs. Jack Moar, zoning chairman, has appointed sector leaders and block captains. Trucks driven by women volunteers will be routed throughout the district Saturday morning. All salvage should be placed conveniently for collectors—and firmly bundled or boxed, for efficient handling. Block captains will be in touch with each family in their respective areas, and sector leaders will take reports from block captains. Teams of school children have been organized to act as "runners' for block captains—and will carry messages, pick up small loads of salvage and report large collections. Scouts from troops 11, 25 and 26 will be on duty to pick up salvage and man the neighboring depots.

A.M.A. schoolboy patrols will be on duty in areas surrounding the depots—which are located centrally: Westmount Community Hall, on 127 street; Nichol's Confectionery Store on the southwest corner of 111 avenue and 124 street; Seventh Avenue Filling Station; McIntosh's Filling Station at 118 avenue.

Anna Malone Addresses Optimist L.A.

Miss Anna Malone, member of the staff of the Edmonton Public Library, children's department, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Optimist club, held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Chilcotch on Wednesday evening.

Choosing for her topic the work of the library among children Miss Malone stated that it was playing a great part in the enterprise system of education. General figures show that the circulation of books from the Edmonton library ran any figures shown in cities across the Dominion, with the exception of Toronto in circulation, during the past year. 250,000 books were circulated among 12,000 children.

A large number of children who patronize the library are new Canadians she said. A great interest is shown by modern boys in mechanical knowledge. Mentioning a book entitled, "Modern Planes of the World," of which the library recently bought copies, she stated that within one week a flood of model airplanes appeared at the library, made by small boys who were inspired by the illustrations and instructions contained in this book. It is now planned to hold a display of these model planes in the library to be judged during the first week of February, the speaker said.

There has also been a noted increase in the number of books obtainable for children of pre-school age. In regard to the travelling street-car library, Miss Malone stated that it is unique in that it is the only one of its kind on the continent and has obtained recognition in all major cities across the Dominion.

District News in Brief

Two Hills School Division to Make New Agreement

TWO HILLS—An agreement to draw up a revised salary schedule which would embrace all points brought forward by teachers when they met the board, was reached by trustees of the Two Hills School division No. 21 when they held their annual meeting last week.

Representatives of the teachers were Nicholas Poshkay, principal of the Two Hills high and public schools, and president of the Two Hills local of the A.T.A.; William Teresio, principal of Myrnam school and secretary of the A.T.A.; John Melnuk, vice-president of the A.T.A. local and Mr. Eurchuk, representative of the Hairy Hills A.T.A. sub-local.

Reasons put forward by the teachers for an increase in salary were the increased cost of living and the necessity of making the teaching profession attractive to the better type of students. The increase asked by the teachers was $16,000 for the entire division.

BOARD ARGUES

The board argued in favor of the bonus system over the salary schedule which it claimed insured better distribution. It also claimed that married women teachers with children paid less attention to their work and should be paid less.

The teachers, however, refused to accept the board's proposal for a bonus plan and stated that they had been instructed to settle for a salary schedule only. A bonus, they claimed, only raised the amount of money paid but did not insure future of teaching. They wished the salary to be sufficiently attractive to encourage men and women to join the teaching profession.

It was further reported by the board that there are now 11 rooms closed due to lack of teachers joining the armed services. There are 22 of these.

It was decided to try and repair schools instead of rebuilding due to the lack of building materials.

At Columbus, O., I met Mrs. E. B. Neil, president of the Central Ohio Bridge Association, and Dr. Louis Mark, who had just given War Orphans' Scholarships $500 for the purchase of a scholarship bond. We went over plans for a gigantic party they intend to put on the spring in the hope of raising several more scholarships.

"Dee" always has an interesting hand, and here is one he pulled out of his pocket. The first trick was won by the king of spades and the second by the ace. Declarer cashed the ace and king of diamonds, then led the jack of clubs, hoping to establish the club ten as a re-entry. But West was equal to the occasion and let the jack win. Declarer then cashed three more clubs, West discarding a diamond and East a spade. Next South cashed the queen of spades, and led a low heart. East won the nine with the queen and returned a low heart. South guessed wrong, putting up the king, but was saved by the fact that West, after taking his long spade, had a diamond left.

Debunker

There has long been a superstition that person sleeping with the full moon shining directly upon him might be made ill or even crazy by it. The names "loony" and "lunatic" are derived from this notion. Some other people believe that persons who are mentally upset become much worse each month at the full of the moon. In Egyptian mythology the moon was considered mistress of the brain. Scientists who have studied these matters thoroughly, say there is no relation whatever between the brain and the time of the moon—that lunacy is neither caused nor affected by moonlight.

Flynn's Defence Concludes Case

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Errol Flynn's defence rested its case yesterday, with the stipulation by attorney Jerry Giesler that he may request a visit by the jury to the luxurious yacht where the prosecution claims the film star seduced one of his two girl accusers.

The end of the defence case came abruptly after the state had completed its cross-examination of the actor, charged with statutory rape of teen-aged Peggy La Rue Satterlee and Betty Hansen. The case may go to the jury next Wednesday or Thursday.

Flynn denied yesterday from the witness stand the state's charges that he had intimate relations with blond Betty Hansen, second of his young accusers.

He never was formally introduced to the girl, he testified, and his first recollections of her was "when she came over and sat on the arm of my chair."

Defence attorney Jerry Giesler asked Flynn if at any time after the dinner he had ascended to the upstairs bedroom where Betty charged Flynn disrobed her and had improper relations with her. Flynn answered "No".

President C.L.A. Calls to Do Away With Waste Effort

MONTREAL, Jan. 29—(CP)—J. G. Fleck, president of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, called for co-operative research by the pulp-paper and lumber industries in a movement to eliminate waste effort when he spoke yesterday at the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association convention.

Brig. A. Kennedy, of defence headquarters at Ottawa, asked for the assistance of the industry in training troops in woodcraft and bush fighting. He suggested courses in this field should cover the type of food to be carried, proper clothing, crossing streams and living in the open, and urged that forest engineers be made available to train insurgents.

Mercury Dips To 21 Below During Night

Just as Edmonton citizens were beginning to believe that warmer weather was definitely on the way the temperature took a sharp downward plunge during Thursday night to reach a low of 21 below Friday morning.

Thursday afternoon for the first time in two weeks, the official reading at the Dominion Meteorological station showed above zero temperatures when the thermometer reached two above. However, by Thursday night the temperature was steadily decreasing, and Edmonton was once more plunged into sub-zero weather.

An east wind added to the chilliness of the lower temperatures.

Northern temperatures also have recorded lower readings with Fort Vermilion showing the lowest temperature with 30 below. Highest temperature was recorded at Peliican and House River both with a reading of ten below.

Architects Meet: Receive Reports

With members of the profession from many parts of the province attending the annual meeting of the Alberta Association of Architects opened at the Macdonald hotel Friday morning with John Martland, architect for the city of Edmonton and president of the association, presiding.

The morning session was taken up with receiving reports on 1942 activities, and in discussion of matters of importance to the association. The election of officers will be held at the afternoon session, at which time the venue of the next meeting will be set.

Honored

H. R. Milner, K.C., Edmonton barrister and president of the Northwestern Utilities Ltd., who was elected Chief Rabban of Al Azhar Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., at the annual meeting held in Calgary this week.

Return Radio Sets to Japs Is Protested

Proposal to return radio receiving sets to Japanese residents of Canada and to permit Japanese to return to the coastal areas again, was unanimously condemned in a resolution passed by the new veterans' branch of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L., in the Memorial Hall Thursday.

The resolution is being sent to the Dominion government.

It was contended by several speakers that radios receiving sets can be converted into transmitting sets in a short time.

A telegram was dispatched to Mayor John W. Fry, endorsing the city's action in pressing for housing relief in Edmonton. Many returning soldiers are suffering hardship from the housing shortage, it was contended.

The meeting also urged a start being made, as soon as the weather moderates on construction of a thoroughfare connecting Jasper avenue with the Memorial hall and public library. Use of the lane by children going to and from the library is particularly dangerous at this time, it was pointed out.

A discussion on rehabilitation of returned men was held and the work of the special committee from war veterans' organizations was wholeheartedly endorsed.

President J. C. Macdonald was in the chair.

To Speak Here

Israel Mereminski, distinguished leader of the General Federation of Jewish Workers in Palestine, who arrived in Edmonton Friday to address a mass meeting in the Talmud Torah hall at 8 p.m. Sunday. He is visiting Edmonton in the course of a trans-Canada tour that commenced in Montreal on Jan. 3.

Identification May Be Needed To Buy Liquor

Intending purchasers of liquor in Alberta will have to locate and wipe the dust off their National Registration cards, and carry them in easily accessible pockets, if regulations under consideration by J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, become law.

Mr. King has just returned from Toronto, where a conference was held on the uniformity of liquor administration.

The province of Ontario already has ruled that the registration cards be produced when buying liquor, and Alberta has announced the same rule will apply, with no effective date set.

Purchase of liquor across the Dominion is becoming more rigidly regulated, as the provinces announce their newest regulations.

QUEBEC LIMIT

Quebec has ruled a limit of 40 ounces per week, under a ration-book system. Beer parlor hours in Quebec will be cut to an average of eight hours a day, ceasing at 10 p.m. day, when 12 hours will be allowed. This is a 50 per cent reduction in time.

New regulations for Alberta consumers may be expected in the near future.

Criticism of any proposal by the city to go on a self-insurance plan by building up a fund of $500,000 has been expressed by E. A. Cory, provincial manager of an insurance company here. The fund, he said, would be insufficient for the amount of values which are at risk in the city.

Poor Mark Twain certainly did pass away 50 years too soon. Because at long last they are really going to do something about the weather. In one sense we are still not technically correct when we say "something is going to be done about the weather." It would be better to say that by finding out what the weather will be like a long time in advance, we will be able to arrange our affairs so that the weather will cause us only the very minimum of inconvenience.

At least that's what we gather is in store for the human race in the not so distant future, following a chat with that great explorer of the polar regions of the

Jury Places No Blame in Woman's Death

The accident that took the life of Mrs. Stella Harvey, on 101 street and 108A avenue, Jan. 18, was declared unavoidable by a coroner's jury Thursday. The inquest held at the city police station, was presided over by Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief provincial coroner.

In its verdict, the jury stated merely that in its opinion the accident was unavoidable. Evidence revealed that Mrs. Harvey ran onto 101 street from in front of a standing car directly into the path of a city street railway truck operated by Ernest Shillabeer.

Mrs. Harvey, in company with her 16-year-old brother-in-law, Elvin, was attempting to catch a south bound street car that had stopped at the forked intersection of Kingsway, 108A avenue and 101 street.

CAR OWNER FINED

As an aftermath to the fatality the owner of the standing car, was fined in city police court earlier this week for storing his car on a public thoroughfare.

It was revealed further in evidence that Shillabeer did not see Mrs. Harvey until she stepped out in front of the truck from in front of the standing auto. She had been running south on the east sidewalk of 101 street and her brother-in-law was following her.

It was revealed also that Mrs. Harvey was looking back at the time she was struck. She died in the Royal Alexandra hospital 12 hours after the accident, from a skull fracture.

F. G. Day, assistant city solicitor acted on behalf of the street railway department and Coroner's Officer Det. William McDonald conducted the inquest.

The accident occurred at 11:45 p.m. on Jan. 18. Francis LeGassick, was foreman of the jury and other members were E. W. Armstrong, John Hay, Francis Taylor, Harry Milner and L. E. White.

Two Charged For Violating War Tax Act

Failure to file a true return of taxable sales in their general store at Flatbush during the month of October, 1942, resulted in pleas of guilty on four charges of breaches of the Special War Revenue act by Otto and George Moro, in city police court Thursday.

The merchant brothers pleaded guilty before Magistrate Harold Hawe, K.C., and were remanded for sentence until Feb. 26.

TWO VIOLATIONS

Each was charged with two breaches of the act, the first being failure to make true returns of the taxable sales during the month and the second being of failure to pay $806 in special war revenue taxes to the Dominion government.

During the same court sitting Michalina Nowakowski pleaded guilty to a charge of procuring an abortion, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment. Her sentence is to run concurrently with a similar sentence handed down in Supreme court Tuesday on a charge of abortion.

Robert Matthewson, who pleaded guilty to a charge of uttering a forged document earlier Thursday, received a suspended sentence of six months. He pleaded guilty to uttering a forged document, a cheque for $20, which he cashed.

Following the passing of sentence on the three cases set over from the morning session, Magistrate Howe presided over the weekly R.C.M.P. traffic cases that resulted in three convictions.

Peter Majeau, Gunn, and M. S. Ferby, Fedorah, each were fined $10 and costs for failing to display properly their highway traffic board certificates, and Joe Rudnyk, Sundance, was fined a similar amount for having no clearance lights on his truck.

THE QUESTION

What is your opinion of the appeal made by Dr. G. M. Little, medical health officer for Edmonton, to parents to take greater advantage of preventive measures supplied to minimize danger from contagious diseases?

THE ANSWERS

FREDERICK THOMPSON, accountant: It is a mystery to me that the appeal should have to be made. I cannot understand why parents do not take advantage of the services rendered, most of them free, to prevent the spread of communicable diseases. I strongly hold the opinion that it is the parents absolute duty to take advantage of every service that will guarantee the health of their children.

* * *

HARRY NIXON, clerk: It is a tragedy that the death of a youngster should be necessary to arouse parents to the necessity of taking advantage of the preventive actions that medicine research has made available to prevent the spread and contagion from communicable disease. Dr. Little's appeal should be unnecessary if parents did their duty.

* * *

WILLIAM PALMER, farmer: There may be some excuse for the rural population in not getting their children the preventive measures as they are not so readily available as in the city. There is absolutely no excuse for city residents not seeing that their children have every protection that medical research can provide.

Saturday's Fight Card Best Ever Offered Edmonton Fans

Hard-hitting, aggressive Pte. Al Lust, western Canada welterweight champion and Army candidate for the Services title, will square off Saturday night with Sgt. Dave Castilloux, Canadian welterweight champion, and the smartest boxer ever to push leather in these parts, in what promises to be one of the most outstanding ring contests ever staged in Edmonton.

"In the pink" after a strenuous training grind, both boxers Friday were confident of victory and eager for the first bell. Judging by past performances, the bout, scheduled for the 10-round route, is bound to be a bang up affair. When this same pair tangled in Montreal on November 5 last, Castilloux edged out a close decision, and by all indications plenty of "fireworks" will explode before the issue is definitely settled.

Lust, always a dangerous fighter, likes to wade in slugging and it appears likely he'll start out with one definite objective in mind, mainly to connect with a "haymaker". Castilloux, on the other hand, fights more scientifically, watching for openings then stepping in fast with telling blows.

DONOVAN BIG ATTRACTION

With the added attraction of Arthur Donovan, prominent American referee, on hand to officiate during the two main events, fight enthusiasm in Edmonton was growing rapidly Friday and by all indications several thousands will witness the show.

Donovan, now serving in the United States Merchant Marine as a lieutenant, is scheduled to arrive in the city Friday night from the east coast.

A classy semi-final for the card was assured last Tuesday when AC.2 Kenny Lindsay, of Vancouver and bantamweight champion of the dominion, discounted managerial differences and agreed to meet AC.2 Hugh Sloan, former provincial lightweight champion. Lindsay's ex-manager, Arnold Bertram, had been somewhat perturbed as to the rating of his boy with the National Boxing Association if he undertook to meet Sloan. Lindsay, however, serving in the Air Force and fighting for the Air Force, believed no harm would be done by the engagement and signed up.

The six-round session will be Lindsay's last for the duration. Although he expects to give away a few pounds to Sloan, Lindsay isn't in the least perturbed. He expects to be "in there fighting" and as he put it critically, "I'll do all right."

The card, which gets underway at 8:45 p.m. is attracting more attention than any similar affair held here in the last decade. The announcement that Arthur Donovan was going to be the third man in the ring for the two principal events, won instant approval with the fans. Many are eager to see the man who referred one of the Dempsey-Tunney goes and the majority of Joe Louis' fights in action.

PARKING SPACE

As a special service to fans, Group Captain W. G. Webber has kindly granted permission for motorists driving their own automobiles to use the 115 avenue entrance and proceed to the parade grounds where cars must be parked. Patrons using the city's trams can reach the arena via the blue line on 118 avenue.

Musical entertainment at the fights will be provided by the R.C.A.F. band.

Sloan Fight Is Lindsay's Last For Duration

Kenny Lindsay, popular Vancouver fighter, who holds the Canadian bantamweight title, is going to hang up the gloves for the duration after tomorrow night's bout with AC2 Hugh Sloan, one-time provincial lightweight titlist and concentrate his fighting abilities on the all-out Allied bid to smash Hitler and his aggressor partners.

Lindsay, who rates as AC2 at No. 3 "M" Depot declared the other day emphatically "this will be my last bout." The accompanying smile seemed to indicate that he intended to make it a good one.

Kenny, while anxious for a "role in the all services card wasn't any too pleased at going against the wishes of his former manager, Arnold Bertram, of Vancouver, who in a letter to his former charge, expressed grave concern as to Kenny's rating with the National Boxing Association if he took part in the proposed contest with Sloan. He decided, however, to make this last appearance on behalf of the services and then concentrate on his air force training.

CONFIDENT OF WIN

Lindsay, who newly outfitted in air force blue, wasn't overly talkative about what was going to happen when the bell sends him against Sloan, but nevertheless despite an advantage in weight he expects to concede his opponent an exectancy of victory was apparent.

"You know anything can happen in a boxing match" he observed," but, at that, I believe I can take him."

Meanwhile "fight talk" held sway in Edmonton and fans were generally agreed that plenty of boxing was on the agenda, with boys from all parts of the country vieing for a spot in the preliminaries.

DONOVAN TO REFEREE

Arthur Donovan, the noted American referee will also handle the six-round Lindsay-Sloan affair as well as the main event between Canadian welterweight champion Dave Castilloux and Al. Lust, of Calgary, Services' contender for the championship.

Apart from the outstanding boxing events, the prospect of seeing Donovan "work" is proving quite a drawing card, and incidentally, is also reviving some of the old disputes connected with fistic classics of a by gone day, mainly the Dempsey-Tunney affair, which stirred up quite a "hot stove league" among devotees of the art of leather pushing.

At any rate Edmonton is definitely fight-minded and come what the boys into action.

Card Includes Four Top Notch Preliminaries

Since arriving in Edmonton from Montreal, Castilloux has been training rigorously for the bout and according to reports, has been showing marked improvement every day. By ring time, he is expected to be in top fighting form and ready for the best Lust has to offer which, in previous engagements has seldom proved a disappointment to the fans.

A strong card of preliminaries has been arranged by the fight committee, chairman of which is Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M., area commandant. Four bouts are scheduled, with an ample supply of "emergency" boys on hand just in case quick knock-outs prove the rule rather than the exception.

Sgt. Bus Murdock, 1940 Canadian middleweight champion, arrived in the city last Tuesday. Also here is Flt. Sgt. Billy Evans, physical training instructor at the No. 8 R.C.A.F. school, Lethbridge and former Saskatchewan champion. Billy tips the beam at 150 pounds. From Toronto at 147 pounds comes LAC "Jack" Waller and representing the Navy is O S Lowrie, at 140 pounds. Lowrie hails from Lloydminster.

Lowrie, the navy's lone contestant has been matched with LAC. Slack at 140 pounds.

Other preliminaries announced last night will bring together LAC Stephenson at 180 pounds and AC1 Walliser who scales 185. Vic Pollock 150 pounds, will tangle with AC2 Irving at 146 while Flt. Sgt. Evans, 157, will meet Army Cpl. Glover at 155 pounds.

As the weights indicate the boys are all evenly matched and close contests are likely in all events which are to be contested over three rounds.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

THAT the members of the committee in charge of tomorrow's Castilloux-Lust title fight had done their work well was quite in evidence at last night's meeting, when the final check-up of the situation was made. All appeared to be in readiness for what is easily the biggest affair of its kind ever staged in this city.

The appearance of two Canadian champions on the same fight card will be an entirely new experience for ring followers here or any other place in the Dominion. And the fact that Lieut. Arthur Donovan, famous fight official is to be the third man in the ring is in itself an added attraction.

Pte. Al Lust, the Army's hope in the Services championship affair will of course have a considerable weight advantage over the Air Force representative, Sgt. Dave Castilloux. The Montrealer is conceded to be much faster and a better boxer than the Calgarian. Lust is expected to weigh in today at about 169 and that will give him an edge of at least 10 pounds over the Canadian welterweight titleholder.

Kenny Lindsay, holder of the bantam championship of Canada will enter the ring in the neighborhood of 122, which will probably be about six pounds less than AC2 Hugh Sloan.

LES Nellson, leading sniper for the Y.M.C.A. cagers in the game against City Police established a new mark in shooting accuracy last night when he fired eight out of 13 chances to give him a percentage of 61.5. Six of his baskets came in the third period.

The Y had a team average of 43 per cent. They made five out of 14 in the first period, six out of 11 in the second, while they cashed in on eight out of 15 shots in the third session and registered seven times in 13 chances in the last quarter.

Ken Shaw did some fine shooting for the Police getting results six times out of 16 opportunities for a total of 12 points. The Coppers only clicked once out of nine times in the first quarter, four out of 10 in the second twice out of 10 in the third and wound up with divisions only twice out of 11 tries in the fourth. Odds enough the score was high, steed 22-11 at the half, then 32-16 and later 34-17.

Castilloux-Lust Services Title Bout Plans All Complete

Record Fight Crowd Expected Tomorrow

SPORTS BULLETIN

In Action at Arena on Saturday

Shown above are the four principals in the two main attractions on tomorrow night's fight card at the Arena, the proceeds of which are to go to the Benevolent Funds of both Army and Air Force. On the left is AC2 Hugh Sloan, who meets AC2 Kenny Lindsay, Canadian bantamweight champion (extreme right) in a six-round bout. Second from the left is Sgt. Dave Castilloux, R.C.A.F., welterweight title holder of Canada, who clashes with Pte. Al Lust, the Army's representative (right centre) over a 10-round route for the Services championship.

First Bout Will Start At 8:45 p.m.

WITH the advance sale of tickets giving every indication that the Castilloux-Lust services championship fight will draw a record crowd to the Arena on Saturday night, the committee of which Lieut. C. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant, is chairman, held their final "pre-show" meeting on Thursday night.

Pte. Al Lust, the Army representative in the title clash, came to the city on Wednesday night and Sgt. Dave Castilloux, R.C.A.F., has been at the "M" Depot since Jan. 10. Lieut. Arthur Donovan, world's foremost fight referee who is coming to Edmonton for the express purpose of handling the two main bouts, will arrive today.

Both AC2 Kenny Lindsay, Canadian bantamweight champion and AC2 Hugh Sloan who will go six rounds immediately before the Castilloux-Lust affair are both ready and the eight boxers who will take part in the four three-round preliminaries have been named.

Plans have been completed to handle the expected huge crowd at the Arena and the Street Railway Department has arranged for a special service. There will be parking space for cars in the usual area and they may enter at the west gate. Street cars of course will come to the north gate as heretofore and entry into the Arena must be made at the north end.

The unusual feature about the big demand for tickets according to John Michaels is the unprecedented number being sold to ladies, sales to parties of even five and six not being uncommon.

A musical program starting at 8 p.m. will be provided by No. 3 "M" Depot band under the leadership of Sct. Taylor and the first of the preliminaries is scheduled for 8.45.

Col. Thos. L. Mosley, commanding officer U.S. Air Force Troops, who is also a member of the committee, will introduce Lieut. Arthur Donovan, the referee.

Judges named for the fights are Capt. Wrigglesworth, U.S. Army Air Forces and Capt. H. Todd Lane, Canadian (Active) Army.

Timers are Sgt. Barney Morrison and Cpl. Sid Boxcott and the announcer will be Sgt. Maj. WO1. Blondell.

Preliminaries will be in the following order:

1. LAC. Stephenson (180) vs AC1 Wallace (185).

2. LAC. Stack, Clareholm (140) vs. Lavrie (145).

3. Cpl. Vic Pollock, Edmonton (150) vs. AC2 Irving, McLeod.

4. Cpl. Glacier Army, Edmonton (155) vs. Flt. Sgt. Evans, R.C.A.F., Lethbridge (157).

Next on the list is Lindsay-Sloan six-round bout and then will follow the Castilloux-Lust 10-round Services championship fight.

No. 3 "M" Depot Overcomes I.T.S. in Final Hoop Game

As the Inter-Service Basketball League wound up Thursday night No. 3 "M" Depot were still undefeated when they handed No. 4 I.T.S. a 45-35 setback in a game played in the Arena.

It has not yet been decided whether or not there will be finals in this league as the "M" Depot came through the season with a wide margin over the next highest team. Navy, who holds second place and No. 4 I.T.S. third are still confident that they can beat the Depot squad and want play-offs arranged.

Jim Bardsley and AC2 Fisher again were high scorers for the winners in last night's contest with 14 points each. AC2 Kaminsky with nine, D. Gray and Bunz with four each, were the other counters for the home club.

"Gimpy" Stolberz with 11 points and AC2 O'Brien with 10 were top scorers for the losers while Hanson, Salmon, White and Scott accounted for the remaining 14.

Play was very close in the first half when the visitors led the counting 16-14 midway through the game.

In the final half the "M" Depot team began to get their plays clicking and had very little trouble in overcoming the visiting Airmen to finish up the game 10 points ahead and the season without a defeat.

Barney Ross Is Offered Daughter By Native Chief

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(AP)—How Barney Ross, United States Marines hero and former boxing champion, kayoed a native "champ" in Samoa and was astonished when a native chief offered him his daughter in marriage as a reward was disclosed here Thursday.

Ben Malamude, former Pittsburgh basketball player serving as a pharmacist, related the incident in a letter. Referring to Ross as "one of my patients," Malamude wrote:

"Incidentally, in Samoa, the Marines made Barney get into the ring with a colored native French soldier who was giving our Army and Navy heavyweights a going over.

"This guy weighed 215 pounds, and was the idol of all the natives. Everyone wanted Barney former welter, junior welter and lightweight titlist, to fight him, but Ross didn't care for the idea. The prestige of the Marines was at stake, however, and the match was finally made.

"They used 16-ounce gloves but Barney had the Samoan on the deck 13 times before putting him away in the sixth round. Ross became the big hero then, and one of the native chiefs offered him his daughter in marriage and wanted him to share his crown."

Four Goals, Three Assists

Max Bentley Ties Scoring Record as Rangers Lose 10-1

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Max Bentley potted four goals and three assists for seven points Thursday night—tying the National Hockey League scoring record—as Chicago Black Hawks buffeted New York Rangers 10-1 before 7,500 in Chicago stadium.

Brother Doug potted in two shots and assisted on four others to come within a point of equaling the outputs which matched the record of Detroit's Cal. Liscombe made against the last-place Rangers earlier in the season.

With Bill Thoms being credited with five assists, the rapid-firing Hawk first line accounted for 18 points on the scoring sheet.

While Bill Beveridge struggled to close the door of his cage, the Black Hawks kept their feet in it like persistent salesmen and hardied the pinch-hitting Ranger goalie with 45 pot shots which he stopped. The Hawk doorman, Bert Gardiner, brushed off only 15 shots in two meantimes and virtually went on a vacation in the first period, making his initial stop after 12 minutes had elapsed of the game. The third shot against him, rolled in, however—Phil Watson getting the credit at 15:19 on passes from Bryan Hextall and Lynn Patrick.

It was only luck that more shots didn't trickle in, for Beveridge, recalled from Cleveland Barons for duty when regular goalie Jimmy Franks broke his wrist, was as unprotected as a scare-crow in a corn patch most of the time.

The Hawks rolled into a 3-1 advantage after the second chapter and then pelted the nets for seven goals in the final. Max made his four and an assist during the barrage, with Doug in for 2-1 assist each time.

Max started the third period rout with a score at 1:44. Nineteen seconds later Tuten tallied. It was the only assist Max got all season. Later Red Hamill counted. Hamill again popped through at 14:22. Max followed at 17:11 and again at 19:36.

At one time, Beveridge was caught behind his cage crossing sticks with the Bentleys while one of his Ranger mates tried desperately to protect the net with his body.

Leo Durocher Is Advisory Coach of Army Ball Team

WEST POINT, N.S., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Branch Rickey led an expedition of newspapermen and Brooklyn Dodger officials into this capital of the Army Thursday and was informed, to the surprise of the newspapermen, at least, that Leo Durocher had been appointed advisory coach of the army baseball team.

In announcing the appointment Col. Lawrence (Biff) Jones, graduate manager of the Athletics, said Durocher's position was established "pending his draft status" and would not interfere with his classification for military service or with his duties as manager of the Dodgers.

The last information received in New York on Durocher's draft status was that he was to report in St. Louis for a physical examination preparatory to his being classified 1-A. The announcement from West Point said Durocher had volunteered his services for March and the first week of April.

The New York newspapermen and Dodger officials came up the Hudson river yesterday and took over the Brooklyn baseball club's spring training site at Bear Mountain, five miles away, and the army field house where the Dodgers will work out in inclement weather.

English Champ Joins U.S. Army

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Britons who have pondered the whereabouts of Ginger Foran, former featherweight boxing champion of England, need speculate no longer. The Liverpool Irishman was inducted into the United States army last week.

His American manager, Ralph Gold, disclosed Thursday that prior to induction Foran had been working in an Oakland shipyard for eight months.

Known throughout Britain as "boxing's playboy", Foran came to the United States two years ago and scored 14 knockouts in New York. He dropped out of sight and only recently London newspapers speculated as to his whereabouts.

Baseball Salaries Maybe Increased

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The way opened Thursday for baseball players—except the top-paid man on each club—to put in the annual bid for a salary raise without regard for government pay ceiling.

The top-paid man can get a raise too—if he can convince not only the owners but the treasury's bureau of internal revenue that he is entitled to it on the basis of merit or service.

That was the effect of a ruling on baseball salaries by the bureau which has jurisdiction over all pay in excess of $5,000 a year, and that under $25,000 paid to unorganized executive, administrative or professional persons.

The bureau directed that clubs must file with it a schedule of the salaries paid last year. The range from the lowest to the highest will be accepted as the club's "established salary schedule."

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—Sal Bartolo of Boston came streaming into New York Thursday with a mammoth chip on his shoulder, squired by manager Lou Schiro, who has developed a blood pressure of 154. Despite the chip and the pressure, no one in Manhattan would give either a tumbe were it not for the fact that featherweights now seem to be the big-money boys in boxing.

Perhaps Bartolo and pilot Schiro are striking while the iron is hot—while 126-pounders have taken command of the ring—after being forgotten men of pugilism for six long years. Anyway Bartolo, a dark-haired Boston Italian claims that he can lick any featherweight in the world—and probably any lightweight.

Bartolo blew into New York for the sole purpose of looking down his somewhat battered nose at Ukanight's 10-round battle at Madison Square Garden between Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., who is recognized in New York as featherweight champion, and Allies Stolz of Newark, N.J., who craves recognition as the No. 1 lightweight contender. Naturally this brawl is a non-title affair, since Stolz will scale about 135 pounds and Pep about 126.

BARTOLO and pilot Schiro are not interested in those weight figures, but they drool when Mike Jacobs' drum beaters mention tonight's probable gate — $60,000, which is big money in any war time rinc.

A 3-A guy who is trying to support a wife, seven brothers, two sisters and a recently widowed mother, Bartolo is out after the big dough and he can't understand the apparent campaign to ostracize him. He has had straight victories.

Bartolo claims that Chalky Wright, former featherweight king, "ran out" on last Friday's scheduled meeting in Boston. Wright's withdrawal, 48 hours before ring time, caused the substitution of a good Brooklyn lightweight, Carmine Fatta. Bartolo was so incensed at Wrigint that he knocked out the heavier Fatta in the second round.

Bartolo, stormy petrel of the featherweight division, is thrusting his nose into an interesting mess. Willie Pep is recognized as champion in New York State by virtue of his victory over Wright. But the National Boxing Association recognizes as champ Jackie Callura of Montreal because of his recent victory over Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson at Providence, R.I.

BARTOLO WANTS TITLE BOUT

As Bartolo tries to wangle either Pep or Callura into the ring for a title scrap, he discovers that Ot Callura is contracted to give Pittsbarrh Wilson a return bout, but Callura's manager, Leo Bradley, is doing his best to evade such a meeting, aside from the fact that Callura is about to enter the Canadian Army, and (?) Pep is angling for a bout with Callura to decide the disputed title.

Meanwhile, Bartolo, Boston's biggest boxing drawing card, is marking time while waiting for a break in New York's Madison Square Garden. And he is awaiting bids from Boston's warring promoters, Rip Valenti of the Boston Arena and Jack O'Brien of Mechanics' Building, both of whom are trying to arrange a match between Bartolo and Cleo Shans, Los Angeles featherweight.

"Bartolo will fight Shans for the Boston promoter who offers the best terms, and that isn't what we want," Schiro said.

"Sal wants to get Chalky Wright in the ring and belt his brains out for taking that run-out powder. Then he wants Pep or Callura. He can lick both on the same night. We'll put up a $25,000 side bet against either so-called champ if he'll climb into the ring with little Sal."

SASKATOON, Jan. 29—(CP)—Six undefeated rinks were left in the Saskatoon bonspiel after the evening draw last night.

W. F. "Slim" Wilson's Dinsmore rink was the last to fall from the unbeaten rinks. It was beaten by Stan Edwards' Saskatoon Granite outfit in a T. Eaton game 8-6.

Three Other Albertans

Ab Newsome, Former Junior With Victoria Navy Pucksters

A FORMER clerk in the Edmonton city commissioners' office is one of four Alberta pucksters starring this season on the flashy Royal Canadian Navy hockey team at Esquimalt, B.C.

The Edmonton representative is Albert "Ab" Newsome, 22, now a leading writer in the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

This is the club which has been helping to show Victoria and the coast some of the finest hockey it has seen since the long-ago "pro" days of Frank Frederickson and the immortal Cougars. Stanley Cup winners when the Navy headliners of today were in short pants.

Every man in the club is on active duty. All are Navy men first, with hockey in second place. Several have seen service in destroyers, corvettes, minesweepers or other vessels; several are likely to be drafted to sea at any time; others are still taking their preliminary training.

WITH EDMONTON FLYERS

Ab Newsome, after a successful junior career, shone with Edmonton Flyers, in the Alberta Senior Amateur Hockey League in the season of 1940-41, and the following year with Red Deer Buffaloes before he joined the Navy. He has been playing a bang-up game at right wing for the sailor aggregation this winter and is rated one of the steadiest, most dependable men on the ice.

Newsome's wife is the former Jean Powers of the Civic Block staff in Edmonton. His brother-in-law, Paymaster Lieut. Percy Powers, R.C.N.V.R., of Edmonton, also is serving on the west coast.

The three other Albertans on the blue-jackets' team are all from Calgary: Able Seaman Howie Hill, 29, left winger; Writer Joe Shannon, 28, utility man, and Ordinary Seaman Charles A. "Chuck" Milliman, 24, defenceman. All were with Calgary Stampeders before donning naval uniforms.

The team's canny manager is another Albertan: Petty Officer Bob Dewhirst of Calgary, a veteran of seven years' Navy service including experience in Britain at the time of the Dunkerque epic.

On the sailor team are three former professional pucksters. Heading the list is a big-leaguer: Goalie "Chuck" Rayner, 22, of Sutherland, Sask. Many critics were rating him one of the best netminders in the business when he joined the Navy last year after N.H.L. experience with the New York Americans and Brooklyn Americans. Prior to that he had been with Springfield Indians in the International League.

Rayner has been enjoying a sensational season this winter, including a brilliant 6-0 shutout on New Year's Day against the Victoria Machinery Depot, a team of shipbuilders.

The two other expres on the club are Stoker Jack Tomson, 25, of Regina, defenceman formerly with Springfield Indians and Regina Rangers, and Ordinary Seaman Murdo MacKay, 26, of Fort William, Ont., right winger formerly with Philadelphia Ramblers and Buffalo Bisons.

VARIOUS VOCATIONS

Of the 18 men on the team, seven are from Saskatchewan, four each from Alberta and Manitoba, and three from Ontario. Five are married and 13 are single. Their average age is 24.

A list of their pre-enlistment jobs reads like a cross-section of the civilian ranks from which the Canadian Navy gets many of its best men. Included were three professional hockey players, three ore miners, four office workers, two swimming instructors, a soft-drink salesman, a machinery shipper, an aircraft factory worker, an electrician in a paper mill, an ice cream maker and a brewery bottler.

Y.M.C.A. Hoopsters Win 52-21 Against City Police

THE Y.M.C.A. moved into a triple second place tie with Varsity and the U.S. Engineers Thursday night in the City Men's Basketball League when they trounced the City Police 52-21 in a game played in the Westglen school gym.

For the second contest to be played last night, Bechtel Price and Callahan were unable to floor a team so defaulted to the U.S. Army Engineers.

Les Nielson with 16 points again came through on top of the individual scoring honors to set the pace for the Y club as they easily triumphed over the Police.

Ken Shaw, the outstanding player for the Cops counted 12 to lead his defeated squad and come second highest in scoring.

Bob Parr, Bruce Hembling and Pete Danylowich accounted for 24 of the winners 52, each scoring eight points while Don Blue with six, Reg Robertson with four and Jim Fleming with two scored the remaining 12. Bill Mayson was the only member of the Y club to be held scoreless.

Mike Hilliard of the Cops with five, Henry Martell with three and Paul Kirk with a single point were the other counters for the losers.

Y.M.C.A. had every little trouble in defeating the Police by counting five baskets out of 14 shots for 10 points in the first quarter while the losers could only bang a single basket and a free shot for three points.

The Y team led the half time score of 22-11 when they continued to out-pace the Cops in the second frame for 12 points to the losers eight.

In the last half the winners over run the Police when Les Nielson scored 12 of his 16 points in the third quarter while Hembling and Blue each picked up a single basket to count 16. The losers were held to six in this session.

Y.M.C.A. never slowed up in the final 15 minutes when they outscored the Police 14-4 to bring their total to 52 and the City Police wound up with 21.

Due to Bechtel Price and Callahan not turning up for the second game and a picked team was covered against the Engineers and the U.S. team won out 50-24.

Jackie Collura Reports Monday

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 29.—(CP)—Canada will retain a world boxing title, at least for the war's duration.

Jackie Callura, who won the National Boxing Association version of the featherweight championship Jan. 18 by outpointing Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson, said last night he will report to the Canadian Army in Toronto Monday.

Callura, rejected by the Canadian Navy because of poor vision, will be accompanied by Patsy Brandino, another featherweight and a stablemate of Callura. Both will be given a few days' leave to participate in a benefit boxing show here Feb. 10.

Under an N.B.A. ruling, Callura will retain his championship until he leaves the army.

Bright's INDUSTRY 1874

Rooted in Canadian Soil Since

PURVEYORS OF FINE WINES

To our friends and customers:

A few short years after Confederation, Bright's began producing Fine Wines. Canada was then a young country just finding herself as a United Dominion. Today our Country is one of the Leading Nations.

In the intervening years, the firm of Bright's has also grown. We have shared in our Country's progress, and we, too, may now rightfully claim leadership in our own field.

For almost seventy years the name Bright's has been before the Canadian People, but on February 1st, by Dominion Regulation, Bright's Wines may no longer be advertised in the newspapers and magazines of the Dominion.

But Bright's fine wines may still be yours for the asking. Not quite so generously perhaps, because future shipments are also restricted by the Dominion Government, but if each of our friends will buy a little less, all may still enjoy Bright's Fine Wines. Our last word, then is—

Buy a little less, but buy BRIGHT'S

Sincerely yours,
T. G. BRIGHT & CO., LIMITED

Life Underwriters Hold First Meet

Life Underwriters gathered in the luncheon room of the Royal George hotel for their first monthly meeting of the current year. There were 70 present. The new president, J. Naismith was in the chair, and after dinner introduced the guest speaker, William Bailey of the National Trust Co., who spoke on matters closely related to the life insurance business, such as succession duties and estate adjustments. He spiced his talk with amusing instances of "Ripley" wills which had some under his notice.

An earlier meeting had confirmed a new slate of officers, these being as follows: president, J. Naismith; vice-president, H. C. Watson; secretary-treasurer, D. N. McLean; executive, G. F. Hazelstein, I. McIsaacs, T. Waddington, R. J. Price.

It was decided to hold the February meeting on an evening instead of at the luncheon hour, time and place to be established later.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS— —By Blosser

'I Am a Murderer'

BY MORRIS MARKEY

THE STORY: This is the story of the "perfect crime"—the murder of Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether in the library of his Long Island estate—and of the events leading up to it. The Colonel's daughter, Cynthia, has a half-hearted suitor in polo-playing Fred West; a rival suitor in Mitchell Grace, the Colonel's secretary; a close friend in Henry Prentiss. But Cynthia seems most attracted to Vaughan Dunbar, a stranger who appeared at the Merriwether home one night with a message from his fellow foreign correspondent and Cynthia's friend, Bill Stewart.

* * *

CHAPTER VIII

IT goes without saying that hardly a man of any sort could be so steadily exposed to the presence of Cynthia Merriwether and not be affected thereby. Mitchell Grace was affected. He knew quite clearly, without being too dramatic about it, that he was irrevocably snared. And he thought, though he did not go far enough to admit that he was sure, that he could never do the least thing about it.

Whether she knew of his passion is not to be determined—though it is the likely thing that she was so accustomed to devotion, so honestly and warmly delighted at her power to invoke it, that she accepted his as a matter of pleasant course. Cynthia was not given to profound meditation over the incalculable and amazing and, on the whole satisfactory ways of life. It was there to be lived, wasn't it?

On very rare occasions they quarreled. Explorations into the deep-hidden causes of these quarrels would not, perhaps, be profitable. But it is the fact that Cynthia generally started them, and started them in all innocence.

As on this day.

She came to the swimming pool, in some pale blue snatch of silken cloth and her hair cupped in a pale blue affair to keep pit dry. And Mitchell Grace was coming up from a dive. And nobody else was there. She sat down on a stone bench and watched him swim to the edge, and laughed when he slipped a trifle climbing out, and pointed to a place beside her.

"I've got news for you," she said, while he wiped water from his face with his hands.

"I can tell. It's good news."

"It certainly is. You've got money coming to you."

"Not cash? Not spending money?"

"No other kind, Admiral. But I've got a horrible confession, too. Look—I'll get it off my chest. Comes last Tuesday and I borrows $35 from Mr. Grace, party of the second part. Right?"

"Putting on the touch, they call it."

"So I puts on the touch, then. Know what it was for?"

"Couldn't guess."

* * *

"I was gambling my all on the Whirlwinds to beat Hank Prentiss. Hank needed to be dropped back a step or two. Charlie Fleet heard me boasting about Fred's team and was nasty. Nasty! He said, 'How about 500, even odds?'"

"I gathered it was millions."

"Grace you're gullible. It was 500 of the prettiest little dollars, and I didn't have them. So I raked and scraped among some old tired, worn-out bank accounts and I found nearly all of it. But I had to go borrowing. And that's how you got—what is it?—touched for that 35."

"Seems a pretty long story just to tell me I get my money back." He looked down at his bare hands which were gripping the edge of the bench.

"But wait. I borrow money from you. It is all for grudge, not for profit. I win. So you get, Mr. Shylock, not $35 but $70. I ought to manage finances for more people. How will you have it?"

You will perceive how the quarrel started.

For he said, "I'm not having any, thanks."

"I must be slow-witted. Any what?"

"Charity."

"It is to be judged, alas, that Waxhaw, S. C., spoke them. Up out of that lonely, desolate word sprouted pale shoots of envy and pride and frustration, and old wounds to the soul caused not by the laughter and self-sureness of more prosperous neighbors, but by their fuller bellies. Only the man who has known hunger carries that bleak-word like a splinter in his heart.

"Mitchell Grace! You're absolutely impossible." She said that in a rush, not of anger or annoyance, but of genuine astonishment.

He stared at the still water of the pool. "You're not telling me any particular news," he said.

She looked at him steadily. "I wish I could understand why you behave like that," she said.

"There are probably a good many things you ought to understand."

"I grant you that.'

"And some that I would like to understand. You waste your time on a rounder and playboy who is a little frayed at the edges, like Henry Prentiss. You keep a simpleton like Fred West hanging around with a look like a lost calf. And when a phony like our pal Vaughan Dunbar shows himself on the scene . . ."

He shrugged his shoulders with such violence that he seemed to be lifting a weight.

* * *

She regarded him very quietly. "You seem to have other plans for me."

"It's very obvious you haven't any of your own."

She retreated behind a fragment of laughter. "I had at least one, about 10 minutes ago. To have half an hour of fun swimming."

"I suppose its my duty, now, to apologize to the boss' daughter."

She got up, and pulled down the legs of her bathing trunks and dived into the water, going across the pool in a long, clean rush and drawing herself up on the opposite side, and sitting there with her legs dangling.

A manservant came down the walk and said to Mitchell Grace that Colonel Merriwether wished to see him. He put on his robe and slippers and went into the library and Colonel Merriwether watched him come toward the desk.

"Sorry I'm not dressed," said Mitchell Grace. "I can be, quickly."

"Perhaps it is not necessary."

"Is there something you wish me to do, sir?"

Colonel Merriwether looked at him through those eyes which were perpetually half shut. "You seem distressed," he said.

It required a marked degree of self-control and of fortitude for Mitchell Grace to restrain the rush of bitter words that fled through his mind, to flush only slightly and to say—after a definite pause—"It is nothing important, sir. Anyway, it is my own fault."

Colonel Merriwether held a match to a fresh cigar, not taking his eyes from Mitchell Grace, and drew in the first wave of smoke and allowed it to drift away from his mouth.

"It is a sound principle, Grace, to keep the emotions under a strong curb."

"I am sure of it, sir."

"I might say that the only mistake I ever made in my life was to lose control of my emotions for a brief time. Approximately one day out of more than 60 years of living. The experience taught me a lesson. I have not lost control of my emotions again, and I have not made a mistake again."

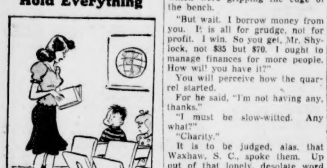

This was, by any measure, the longest and the most intimate conversation which Colonel Merriwether had ever bestowed upon his secretary. Mitchell Grace was startled.

"I'm sorry, sir," he said. Which, by the way, was a rather absurd thing to observe. And Colonel Merriwether descended calmly upon the absurdity.

"Regrets, too, are to be avoided. There is no prosperity in them. However . . ."

Curious World —By William Ferguson

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is all too easy for the unknowing to make smart-alecky statements about child-care. Usually it is the person who knows the least about children who has the most definite ideas about their management. The more one knows, the less definite one becomes about anything, there being too many variations in both children and parents to make any one method workable.

Mr. J. L. says he has been reading this department for some time and enjoys every word. (That is high praise.) He would like my opinion on painful punishments and the leaflet about it.

"I read in a magazine once," he writes, "that Ginger Rogers said, 'The best way to bring up a baby is to feed him when he is hungry, put him to bed when he is sleepy and spank him when he is naughty.' I've never forgotten those words."

This is one of those blanket statements with its usual dubious value. In view of Miss Rogers' childless condition and her lack of special training it would seem that she would hardly be the person to look to for valuable information on child-care. Could it have been her mother who had these bright ideas?

It would be absurd to state that all children would be ruined by painful punishments. There are insensitive children—as well as adults—who could take a spanking or a whipping with no emotional aftermath. Because they are insensitive the chances are that it would be equally unsuccessful in changing their conduct.

There are children who react to an infrequent spanking by being more respectful of their justly indignant parent. Others get irked and, after some hard yelling, go out and do as they please, arguing —and rightly—that the punishment has washed their sins clean. Yet there are children, so incensed by being hit that they literally hate the individual who has to inculcate their personalities. Obviously there there is no one thing a mother can do. Her biggest job is to know her children and to act accordingly.

If she has discovered that her disapproval gets good results, why use other methods? If she finds that her children repay her kindness and consideration by a determination to do as she asks—within reason—she has no need for any artificial weapon. If she has found that an occasional spanking gets results, who can blame her for using it?

The great harm in condoning any painful punishment is the sureness with which such advice will be misinterpreted to mean if one spanking is successful, ten will be better. Discipline is not managed by such arithmetical progression. The more the discipline the worse the child. The more infrequent the discipline, the more effective any punishment will be, whatever its nature.

Our leaflet, "Undesirable Punishments" and why, may be had by sending a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Air Cadets' Warplane Models Help Fliers Spot Foe Craft

The airman who is unable to immediately identify enemy aircraft in an active theatre of war is apt to be a dead "pigeon" in a very short space of time. With new types of aircraft being constantly added to the sky armadas by both the Axis and United Nations, ability to immediately identify any of the many types is of vital importance to every pilot, observer and navigator.

In order to spot at once an enemy or friendly aircraft the student airman must put in long hours of study of the characteristics of each and every type. This is best done through the use of small scale models, complete in every detail.

MODELLING GROUP

Assisting in this all-important phase of pre-battle training without any fanfare of trumpets are members of the Edmonton Squadron of the Air Cadets of Canada, modelling group.

This group is under the general direction of Air Cadet Flt. Lt. H. Kennedy, D.S.O., V.D., Italian and administration officer of No. 12 Edmonton Squadron of the Air cadets of Canada. Flt. Lt. Kennedy was for many years supervisor of physical training and sports for the Edmonton public schools.

The air cadet modelling group meets at the Dominion-Provincial youth training shops at 114 street and Jasper Avenue each Friday for two hours. There are 15 in the group. Here they fashion the solid models of aircraft out of Sitka spruce, that are later turned over to the R.C.A.F.

A display of models constructed by this group may be seen in the window of the Hudson's Bay Co. Ltd., store at Jasper Avenue and 102 street.

No. 4 air command at Calgary supplies all materials and distributes the finished products to initial training and service flying training schools.

EIGHTEEN TYPES

There are blueprints for 18 models of German, Italian, Japanese, British Russian and United States aircraft. The Spitfire model has a nine-inch wingspread.

The blueprints are glued to metal and cut as templates to outline the wood plane shapes. They are sawed by jigsaws and finished at home by the modelling cadets.

D. M. Campbell and Arthur Loder, provincial government employees, supervise the work, which is started in the Thompson and Francis shop at the youth training school.

A. C. Flt. Lt. Kennedy served with the 31st Bn. of Calgary in the last war and won the D.S.O. for service of great merit at Paschendaele. F. K. Vandy of 8735 107 avenue has kindly donated equipment needed in the manufacture of the models.

Never Refused

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Admiral William F. Halsey reported yesterday from the South Pacific that at no time have merchant seamen refused to unload ships at Guadalcanal Island, as charged in a report which a house of representatives committee has undertaken to investigate.

Getting Around

earth and foremost meteorologist, Sir Hubert Wilkins.

Sir Hubert has been doing research work for the United States Army military planning division. Of the work he has been carrying on in the far north for the past few months the famed British scientist would not breathe a single word. But of his pet subject of universal weather forecasting to aid world food and clothing planning, he was more than willing to talk.

* * *

To Sir Hubert's way of thinking, one of the causes of wars is a lack of economic planning on a world scale. And strangely enough that old conversation aid extra-ordinary, the weather, is all tangled up with this lack of planning.

If the people in all countries knew a year in advance what the weather outlook would be, agriculture all over the world could be placed on a basis of planned production. The same would be to a certain extent true in the case of clothing requirements. The problem of world markets would be greatly simplified for all nations, the explorer scientist contends.

Stations established permanently in the polar regions and in the land areas along the Arctic circle would be necessary for such scientific planning. And this would mean friendly co-operation among nations, it was pointed out.

* * *

Sir Hubert is an enthusiast for air travel. He remarked as his room in the Macdonald Thursday that the airplane has made it possible to carry out work of research under very comfortable conditions that would have been impossible a few years ago.

"For example, I have travelled 2,000 miles in the last nine hours," the explorer observed.

"Protect the toad week" is celebrated each year in Waycross, Ga., and citizens extol the virtues of the common toad throughout the nation by means of posters, press, radio, and by word of mouth.

Alberta Girls Are Graduated At Vermilion

Graduating from Vermilion at the week-end, 129 western Canadian girls have completed four weeks of basic training in the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Aircraft Workers To Consider Plan

MONTREAL, Jan. 29.—(CP)—Union officials announced here yesterday that Labor Minister Mitchell has refused their request for a strike vote for about 15,000 aircraft workers in this area and that they had called a meeting for tonight "to consider a plan of action."

They said they had asked for the strike vote on behalf of 11,000 union aircraft workers in the Vickers, Fairchild and Noorduyn plants.

"We consider the situation serious," one union official said.
